ny which way you look at it, elections appear written all over Budget 2018. Finance Minister Arun Jaitley has focussed on the distressed sections of the economy mainly farmers, informal workers and the rural sector — which were drifting away from the ruling party.

The objective behind the standout proposals — and there are a few of them — appears as much to apply salve on their wounds as to ensure that the votes consolidate behind the NDA.

India Inc and the middle class have been left out of the party - the increase in turnover cap for the 25 per cent tax slab on corporate earnings will still exclude the entire listed universe – but with GST, the former has already got its bonus before the

The most outstanding proposal of all, one that this Budget will be remembered for, is the initiation of a universal health care programme for the needy. The scheme, designed to provide an annual health cover of ₹5 lakh per family for secondary and tertiary care, will cover 50 crore people, which is almost 40 per cent of the population. But it is doubtful if this government will be able to reap the political benefits – the details are yet to be fleshed out and the scheme may not roll out in time for the 2019 general elections. Unsurprisingly, there is no allocation for this scheme in the

The biggest challenge before Jaitley was job creation and he has chosen to address it tangentially. He is pinning his hopes on a rural revival by increasing spending on livelihood and infrastructure creation and by giving a leg-up to MSMEs, which are potential job creators. The Finance Minister is banking on MSMEs to invest the funds freed up by lower corporate taxes, but given that most of these companies are in distress and in the red, it is doubtful if the strategy would work immediately.

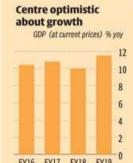

No infrastructure push

The other big job creator, infrastructure. does not seem to have got significant outlays except for Railways, whose capex has been pegged at ₹1,48,528 crore. It is a bit disappointing that Jaitley has not chosen to give a push here, especially because private investment is not anywhere near

Language being the veteran lawyer's forte, Finance Minister Arun Jaitley raced through the Opposition's verbal blows and switched seamlessly from English to Hindi whenever the populist aspects of the political economy needed to be clearly defined for the provincials.

In his sober grey tunic and dark jacket, the Finance Minister set a sombre tone for his last full Budget, skipping the poetic flourishes preferred by his predecessors. The presentation was largely a tepid affair. Only Shatrughan Sinha, in dark shades, provided a show-stopper moment with his swagger and fashionably late arrival.

The Lok Sabha missed its usual Budget Day sideshow of camaraderie and laughter as the equation between Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Congress supremo Sonia Gandhi appeared strained.

Manufacturing growth slips to 3-month low in January

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

The manufacturing sector grew in January at its slowest pace in three months as factory output, new business orders and employment rose at slower rates, a monthly survey said on Thursday.

The Nikkei India Manufacturing Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI) fell from December's 60-month high of 54.7 to 52.4 in January, indicating modest improvement in operating conditions across India's goods-producing economy. This is the sixth consecutive month that the index remained above the 50-pointmark, which separates expansion from contraction, but the rate of expansion is the lowest in three months.

"Following December's stellar performance, growth in the Indian manufacturing economy lost some impetus, reflected by slower growth in output, new orders and employment," said Aashna Dodhia, Economist at IHS Markit and the author of the report.

Blow to BJP as Congress sweeps Rajasthan bypolls

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

Congress candidates looked certain to wrest two Lok Sabha seats in poll-bound Rajasthan from the ruling BJP, having established unassailable leads in bypolls, the counting for which began on Thursday. Apart from leading in the Alwar and Ajmer parliamentary seats, the Congress' candidate Vivek Dhakad won the Mandalgarh Assembly seat, earlier held by the BIP.

The Congress' Karan Singh Yadav and Raghu Sharma were leading their nearest rivals, Jaswant Yadav and Ram Swaroop Lamba of the BJP, by over 1.94 lakh and 80,455 votes in the bypolls for Alwar and Ajmer seats respectively, Chief Electoral Officer Govind Sharma

In 2014, the BJP had won all 25 Lok Sabha constituencies in the State. The party, which in 2013 wrested power from the Congress, has 161 MLAs in the House of 200. Assembly polls in Rajasthan are due later this year.

More options for commodities trade

Several key announcements have been made for the commodity market. First, options on commodity derivatives that are presently recognised as 'option in securities' under SCRA, have been included in the definition of taxable commodity transaction through amendment to the Finance Act, 2013. Secondly, while STT (Securities Transaction Tax) is applicable on the options on commodity derivatives so far, from April 1, 2018, CTT (Commodities Transaction Tax) will be applicable on them.

The CTT to be paid by the seller of an options contract on commodity derivative remains unchanged at 0.05 per cent on the premium amount.

However, with effect April 1, the tax to be paid by the purchaser on exercise of an options contract on commodity derivative has been cut to 0.0001 per cent (on settlement value) from 0.125 per cent at present. This is set to boost interest in option contracts and could see exchanges launching new commodity option contracts in the coming year.

What is also a positive is that the FM has said that trading in any agriculture commodity derivatives will not be treated as speculative even if they are not charged CTT, by amending Section 43(5)(e) of the Income Tax Act. This is a welcome move, as this lets any trader in agri futures/options contract to set off his loss against business income (if any) and reduce his total tax outgo. Currently, this benefit is available only for commodity derivatives on which CTT is applicable - gold, silver, energy and other non-agri and agri-processed commodities.

The FM gave a boost to gold traders by announcing that the Centre will soon formulate a comprehensive gold policy and develop gold as a separate asset class. This means that gold could get a separate spot exchange and a regulator to look into its trading.

With a gold spot exchange, India - the second largest market for the yellow metal in the world will set its own benchmark price for gold; instead of relying on the LBMA price. In addition to benefit of transparent pricing, the participants in the spot market will also have quality assurance and higher liquidity. It will bring more banks and institutional players into the market.

The FM also indicated that the gold monetisation scheme will be revamped.

Will Jaitley's bonanza weed out farm distress?

MSP for kharif crops fixed at 1.5 times the cost of production, but no near-term respite for farmers

OUR BUREAU

The slew of measures announced in the Budget for strengthening agriculture, including fixing the minimum support price (MSP) for kharif crops at 1.5 times the cost of production, if implemented well, could possibly push up the farm incomes in the long run — in line with doubling farmers income by 2022.

No debt relief

However, the Budget appears to provide no near-term respite for the farmers, who have been reeling under the impact of low prices. Besides, Finance Minister Arun Jaitley has also belied the farmers' expectations on a direct income support that the Economic Survey had advocated and a debt relief. Presenting the NDA government's last Budget, Jaitley hiked the food subsidy by 21 per cent or around ₹30,000 crore to ₹1,69,323 crore for the next financial year, majority of which will go towards funding the MSP purchases.

The outlay for the Agriculture Ministry has been increased by 13 per cent to ₹46,700 crore, including a 21.5 per cent hike in allocation for the ambitious Pradhan Mantri Fasal Bima Yojana to ₹13,000 crore from the revised estimate of ₹10.698 crore.

However, the outlay towards the market intervention scheme and price support scheme has been pared down drastically to ₹200 crore from the revised estimate of $\P950$ crore.

While the target for farm credit has been raised by a tenth to ₹11 lakh crore, the Budget, however, fell short of making a large outlay towards tackling the impact of climate change, which threatens to shrink farm incomes by up to 25 per cent in the medium-term, which the Economic Survey had warned.

Infrastructure funds

Jaitley announced setting up of a₹10,000-crore infrastructure fund for fisheries and aquaculture, and a ₹500-crore fund for boosting supplies of politically-sensitive commodities such as onion, potato and tomato, while doubling the allocation to ₹1,400 crore to the Food Processing

Outlay towards irrigation and the national food security mission has been hiked to ₹4,000 crore (₹3,000 crore) and ₹3,600 crore

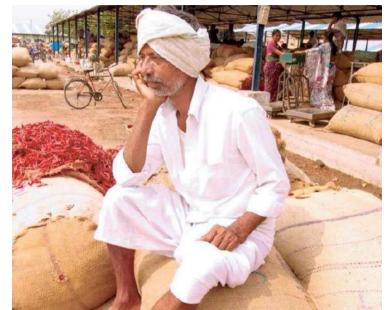

> Jaitley also announced the launch of National Bamboo Mission with an outlay of ₹300 crore.

However, Jaitley's biggest announcement was relating to the fixing the kharif MSP at 1.5 times the cost of production, which, besides boosting farm incomes, could also fuel inflation because of higher prices of farm produce.

Jaitley said the MSPs of most of the rabi crops have already been raised and the government will ensure farmers get MSP even if prices fall. The NITI Aayog will discuss with the State governments putting in place of an institutional mechanism to ensure that farmers get better prices for their produce.

U-turn

The major recommendation of the MS Swaminathan Commission, made way back in 2006 to alleviate farm distress, seems to be finally getting implemented. Though the BJP in its election manifesto in 2014 had promised an MSP of 50 per cent over cost of production, it later backed off from implementing it citing that it would 'distort' markets.

The outlay for the Agriculture Ministry has been increased 13 % to ₹46,700 cr GN RAO

"We are really surprised because the government had given an affidavit in the Supreme Court that they would be unable to provide cost plus 50 per cent. With the claim that the government has provided for higher rabi MSP, they need to withdraw the affidavit now," said Devinder Sharma, a food policy analyst. Jaitley should have taken a cue from Telangana, which has provided an income support of ₹8,000 per year, and extended the concept nationally, he added.

Farmers groups have been demanding that the government consider comprehensive costs (C2), which includes imputed rent on land and capital as the cost of production while the government largely uses operational costs (input costs and family labour) as the cost of production — while announcing the MSP.

"It is a big disappointment for the farmers. The announcement on MSP is a hoax on the farmers. The claim that they are implementing the promise on MSP is very misleading. This is shifting of goalposts — taking a lower estimate of Cost of Production and claiming 50 per cent margin," said Kiran Vissa of Raithu Swaraj

The stakeholders maintained that the "move assumes significance in the wake of a collective attempt to usher in the Blue Revolution to meet the growing demand

The funds can be utilised to enhance basic infrastructure, social safety nets such as insurance, supply of quality breeding materials, genetically improved fish seeds, etc which can considerably augment the productivity and incomes of small holders in fisheries, A Gopalakrishnan, Director, Central Marine Fisheries Research Institute told BusinessLine.

A Ramachandran, Vice-Chancellor, Kerala University of Fisheries and Ocean Studies, said the investment in the development of the 'Blue Economy' will ensure environmental sustainability of the oceans and coastal areas, besides boosting the traditional ocean industries such as fisheries, tourism and maritime transport. However, the All Kerala Fishing Boat Owners Association reacted cautiously on expanding KSC facility saying that it requires more clarity especially on meeting fuel expenses of fishing boats.

'We need a credit facility to meet fuel expenses and it would be ideal if such costs come under the KSC purview," Joseph Xavier Kalappurackal, General Secretary of the association, said.

A much-needed relief for farm sector

The changes

The Budget had several ground-breaking measures for the farm sector, but, some lacked clarity. First is the favourable tax treatment for FPOs (farmer producer organisations). These organisations have been wanting a tax-relief for a long time. Though farm income is not taxed, farmer groups that organise themselves as FPOs and register as a company, had to pay tax on profits, if any, they make. But now, the FM has given 100 per cent deduction on profits made by such companies. This benefit is applicable on profits of all FPOs with a turnover of up to ₹100 crore.

e-NAM, which has been stuck on poor implementation by the States and lack of infrastructure, is set to draw benefits from the ₹2,000 crore allocated for 'Agri-market infrastructure fund'. Currently, each of the 470 markets under e-NAM gets a cash assistance of ₹75 lakh to set up the necessary infrastructure. But, many States find this insufficient. The FM also indicated that the 22,000 rural haats (small agri markets) will be developed into Gramin Agriculture Markets and linked under e-NAM. This will help small farmers in selling their produce directly to buyers by by-passing commission agents.

The FM also assured cost plus 50 per cent on all crops including those that are sown in kharif. But, irony is that already, for rabi crops, the CACP has been fixing MSP at over 100-150 per cent of cost (which gives a 50 per cent profit margin), and farmers are unhappy. In gram, for instance, the MSP is 112 per cent over the actual paid out cost of the farmer; in lentil it is 165 per cent. So, what worries farmers is first, there is very minimal procurement at MSP. Though the price support is announced for 22-plus crops, only in paddy and wheat, it is effective to some extent and in fruits and vegetables there is no procurement at all. The FM has said that it will be ensure that there is effective procurement at MSP across crops, but, what is also crucial is the strategy to dispose these stock. If the Centre sells the bulk of the crops in the market, market will destabilise. Another reason why farmers are unhappy with current MSP is that the CACP cost estimates are not always right. The cost of production differs from State to State and from farmer to farmer. Take, for instance, labour costs. In 2016, the daily wage rates for agri labour was ₹180-200/day in Madhya Pradesh, but ₹360-380/day in Haryana and ₹660-670/day in Kerala.

The background

The Centre has been under immense pressure to uplift the farm sector. The agri-GDP growth in the last four years averages to 1.85 per cent. But, many of the slow progress.

The Verdict

The intention is good, but for the success of the schemes, execution support from States is needed.

Agri-commodity exports could treble to $100 billion; more digitisation of mandis on the cards

TV JAYAN New Delhi, February 1

he National Democratic Alliance (NDA) government's last full budget before the next general elections placed premium in liberalising agricultural exports and in bringing in more digitisation in commodity markets.

While tabling his fourth Budget in Parliament on Thursday Finance Minister Arun Jaitley said India, which currently exports agricultural produce worth $30 billion, has the potential to treble the exports and to realise this, there is a need to of agri-commodities from the country. However, the minister did not spell out the time frame in mind for enhancing the exports.

liberalise the exports

Quality norms However, Jaitley proposed setting up of modern testing facilities at 42 mega food parks located across the country to ensure Indian consignments are not rejected by importing countries.

To further deepen NDA regime's one-nation-one-market motto, the FM said more agricultural produce marketing committees (APMCs) would be integrated with e-NAM. Currently, 470 APMCs are linked to e-NAM and this number would go up to 585 by March this year, Jaitley said.

To smoothen the digitisation of the agri-commodity markets, the minister announced a ₹2,000-crore Agri-Market Infrastructure Fund. The corpus would also be used to upgrade 22,000 rural haats into Gramin Agricultural Markets (GrAMs) that will electronically be linked to e-NAM and exempted from regulations of APMCs.

"The move to develop existing 22,000 rural haats into GrAMS for helping farmers for direct sales is a welcome move," said RG Agarwal of Dhanuka Agritech Limited.

Jaitley also proposed an institutional mechanism to develop appropriate measures for price and demand forecasts, use of futures and options market and expanding warehouse depository sys-

He also stressed on the need for taking timely decisions on export and import of agricultural commodities. The government in the past attracted a lot of criticism from both farmers and experts alike for its dilly-dallying on exim policy front.

Fillip to horti crops

To promote horticulture crops, which have huge export potential, the Budget proposed a cluster-based approach where different clusters would be developed for specific crops in districts known for them.

"Cultivation of horticultural crops in clusters can bring advantages of scales of operations and can spur establishment of entire chain from production to marketing," Jaitley said in his budget speech.

The minister also proposed a fund of ₹200 crore for cultivation of medicinal and aromatic plants and associated industry as a large number of small and cottage industries are involved in the manufacture of perfumes, essential oils and similar products.

Jaitley said the NDA government considers agriculture as an enterprise and wants to help farmers produce more from the same land parcel at lesser cost and realise higher prices for their produce.

The year 2017 was a nightmare for potato farmers in West Bengal. The State reported a 22 per cent jump in production of the tuber at 110 lakh tonnes (lt) in 2016-17 leading to a price

Prices at the time of harvesting (in December-January), were ruling as low as ₹110-120 a packet of 50-kg or around ₹2.4 a kg.

Cut to 2018: tomato prices at the Vashi wholesale market plummeted to ₹6-7 a kg from ₹-20 only about a fortnight ago. Onion prices at Lasalgaon in Maharashtra, Asia's largest wholesale market, declined to ₹25/kg from ₹30-35 last week on improved supplies.

Price volatility brought about by variation in production is unique to most agri-commodities, particularly so for vegetables such as tomato, onion and potato, which are consumed throughout the year.

According to Finance MinisterArun Jaitley, the seasonal and regional production of these perishable commodities pose a challenge in connecting farmers and consumers in a manner that satisfy both.

The government has thus proposed to launch Ôperation Greens on the lines of Operation project.

According to industry experts, though the exact contour of the project is yet to be understood, it will provide impetus to the food processing industry. It will also help provide incentive to farmers to go for cultivation of the processing variety of the crop.

Tackling excess production

"Diversified consumption needs to be encouraged; farmers should be incentivised to grow export quality and processing variety of potato," said Patit Paban De, President, West Bengal Cold Storage Association.

Finding the funds and making it work

The allocation to healthcare sector in the Budget has risen by a meagre 2 per cent from ₹53,294 crore in 2017-18 to ₹54, 600 crore.

However, the announcement of the National Health Protection Scheme as part of Ayushman Bharat is a major initiative. Secondly, allocation of ₹1,200 crore for providing comprehensive healthcare to the people through health and wellness centres is a welcome move. The Government has also allocated additional ₹600 crore to provide nutritional support to all TB

Further, the Government has announced setting up of 24 new government medical colleges and hospitals by upgrading existing district hospitals in the country.

The background

Poor funding and poor management of health funds had been a cause of concern in the Indian healthcare sector. Government spending on healthcare in India was around 1.4 per cent of GDP in 2017-18 (Economic Survey

However, the announcement of National Health Protection Scheme is a commendable initiative. The scheme is proposed to cover over 10 crore poor and vulnerable families crore beneficiaries), providing coverage up to ₹5 lakh per family per year for secondary and tertiary care hospitalisation. This will also enable the underprivileged to have access to quality healthcare system.

So far, the low insurance cover led to very high out-of-pocket expenditure on health, depriving a large number of households. However, funding this scheme can be challenging for the government. It will have to shell out huge subsidy as premium to make it viable for insurance companies. The insurance players and hospitals stand to gain from the schemes.

Setting up of 24 new government medical colleges and hospitals by upgrading existing district hospitals is a welcome move, given the severe shortage of doctors and healthcare infrastructure.

Allocation of ₹1,200 crore for providing comprehensive healthcare to the people through 1.5 lakh health and wellness centres is expected to bring healthcare system closer to the homes of the people. These centres will provide comprehensive healthcare for noncommunicable diseases and maternal and child health services as well. These centres will give free

The verdict

India needs more investment for strengthening the healthcare system. Though there are bold initiatives in the Budget announcement, funding and execution seems to be the challenging task.

Médicare: A more potent package

Will this new version of the 2016 social security scheme prove more effective?

PT JYOTHI DATTA

Mumbai, February 1 he ambitious plan to roll out health coverage for 10 crore families will make it the world's largest government funded healthcare programme, Finance Minister Arun Jaitley, said today

High on optics as it puts health on the centre-stage, this announcement has already been labelled "Modicare" (a la Obamacare) on social media, with an eye clearly on election 2019.

Unfortunately though, this proposal has a precedent - a social security proposal announced in Budget 2016 did not take off for want of a rollout plan and supporting fund alloca-

Jaitley's flagship National Health Protection Scheme (Budget 2018) speaks of providing healthcare coverage to about 50 crore beneficiaries, providing them coverage of up to ₹5 lakh per family per year for secondary and tertiary care hospitalisation.

"Adequate funds will be provided for smooth implementation of this programme," he had said.

But this is merely an expanded, repackaged version of the social security scheme of 2016, and even a rough calculation shows that it doesn't add up, says Indranil Mukhopadhyay, a health economist and Assistant Professor, OP Jindal Univeristy.

"If we look at similar models and at half the market rates, the allocation the Government would need to pay for just the premiums is about ₹1.2 lakh crore and the country's total spending on health is about ₹1.3 lakh crore," he said.

There is no clarity on how this will be rolled out and who will foot the bill, a plan that mirrors the confusion of the 2016 proposal.

Even if it were to be rolled out through the RSBY (Rashtriya Swasthya Bima Yojna), the allocation for the scheme this year is ₹2,000 crore, he added.

And while Jaitley says the national healthcare protection scheme is a step towards Universal Health Coverage, Mukhopadhyay points out that past announcements on the UHC roll out barely saw any follow-up action.

Gaps not addressed

While health is getting a mention in the Budget in terms of the 3,000 Jan Aushadi centres that sell less expensive medicines or the Government's initiatives to bring down the price of cardiac stents, there is little in it to address several other gaps affecting public health. Shailaja Chandra, former secretary at the Health Ministry, is happy about the importance that healthcare is getting in the Budget in terms of an expanded health insurance or financial support of ₹500 per month toward the nutrition of a person undergoing treatment for tuberculosis.

However, she adds, many of the initiatives don't seem to be thought through.

For instance, the gaps in public health delivery in terms of staffing or the regulatory coverage of the healthcare prevention scheme.

There needs to be greater focus on a preventive set-up or a strengthening of the existing framework to tackle communicable diseases and

Healthcare takes centrestage The move towards universal healthcare will help bridge the rural-urban divide prevent more tragedies like the one at Gorakhpur from happening, she says, referring to the death of several infants at a Government hospital in Uttar Pradesh.

Insurance companies could end up reaping the benefits of the health coverage scheme, she says, calling for a regulatory mechanism to make sure they pay patient bills without

With the Budget being high on making promises, the critical element now is how the Centre rolls out these initiatives, some of which have already stumbled in the past over inadequate funds.

Our Chennai Bureau reports: The move towards the universal healthcare, comprehensive healthcare centres and new medical colleges will help bridge the rural-urban divide, say healthcare players.

Prathap C Reddy, Chairman, Apollo Hospitals, said in a statement that the initiative to cover 10 crore families with ₹5 lakh per family/per year with insurance cover for secondary and tertiary healthcare, will be a game

Suneeta Reddy, Managing Director, Apollo Hospitals, said the initiative that amounts to $800 billion is even higher than the US' Medicaid programme at $550 billion.

R Sabesan, Chief Financial Officer, Dr Agarwals Group of Eye Hospitals, said that the tax relief on entities with turnover of up to ₹250 crore will also have a positive impact on the sec-

The Centre's flagship National Health Protection Scheme to cover over 10 crore poor families providing coverage up to ₹5 lakh, will benefit public insurers and certain private insurance players active in mass health programmes.

The Budget also proposes to merge three public sector general insurance companies - National Insurance Company Ltd, United India Assurance Company Limited and Oriental India Insurance Company – which will be listed sebsequently. This will bring down costs, improve scale and usher in greater competition in the space. While clarity on the contours of the National Health Protection Scheme is Under this, a beneficiary pays a premium of ₹30 for a ₹30,000 cover. The balance (about ₹370) is borne by the Centre and the State together. Insurance players will participate in the tender process for each state and the lowest bid is awarded the contract.

If the Centre's new scheme is on similar lines, then a beneficiary may have to pay ₹500 for a ₹5 lakh cover.

The premium may work out cheaper as the probability of lower income households using up the full cover may be less. However, for players active in this space, this opens up big opportunity as the scheme gathers scale.

What for players

For public insurance players such as New India Assurance, United India, National and Oriental National and select private insurance players such as Reliance General, the Centre's new health scheme offers immense opportunity. For Reliance General mass health forms about 44 per cent of total health stays an important driver for stocks. This budget's move to improve rural income and put more money in the hands of the pensioners and some segments of the salaried class will boost segments such as auto, consumer durables, housing, FMCG and entertainment, Infrastructure spends will help cement and steel manufacturers besides construction and capital goods companies. The cut in corporate tax for companies with turnover up to ₹250 crore will help small and medium enterprises. But the principal risk to equity prices remains from the fact that prices have rallied ahead of earning recovery.

Seek shelter under large caps

Lack of private capex, low utilisation in manufacturing units, stressed state of banks' balance sheets, logjam in sectors such as power and real estate, structural issues in IT and regulatory run-ins in pharma are a few problems dogging the key sectors. Given these, a euphoric state in the stock market appears quite misplaced.

the Budget, as expected has given a big push to rural India. While corporate earnings are likely to recover this year, with the government upping its expenditure, much of it appears to have been factored in by the markets. In fact, the exuberance in the stock market could fizzle out if earnings fail to catch up with expectations. Hence investors, revelling in robust returns of the past year need to rein in their expectations. It is unlikely that your diversified equity mutual fund will deliver a stellar 30-40 per cent return yet again this year.

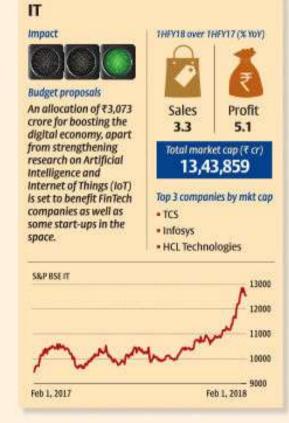

But if you are looking to build wealth for the long term, then nearterm hitches should not stop you from continuing to Invest in mutual funds

Diversified equity funds are still a great way to earn inflation-beating returns over the long run. To tide over volatility, take the SIP (Systematic Investment Plan) route. Also go for the growth option, as the Budget has brought in 10 per cent tax on dividends from equity-oriented mutual However, what is important is to pick the right funds that have a long track record of consistent performance across market cycles.

Large-cap funds that invest about 80 per cent in bluechip stocks can help tide over market volatility while delivering inflation beating returns. citied above. In fiscal year 2017-18, consumption met with stumbling blocks despite tailwinds from benign borrowing rates. The GST transition and consequent de-stocking also affected demand in sectors such as FMCG, auto and consumer durables. Also, uneven monsoons and the crash in prices of agricultural products hurt rural India. Growth in private expenditure took a hit in the first two quarters of 2017-18, over the same periods last year. The results of the September and December 2017 quarters show that there is some recovery in demand after the GST slump. Better urban consumption has helped companies such as Maruti Suzuki. Premium products of FMCG companies such as Hindustan Unilever, Dabur and Marico, as well as FMCG majors with an urban tilt, such as Godrej Consumer, have also shown good volume growth. Higher disposable income in some sections of the urban population could keep this trend going.

looking to onsumers splurge on imported products across a wide range of segments could be saddled with a higher price tag. In a bid to encourage Make In India, the Finance Minister announced a hike in the customs duty on a range of products, such as footwear, personal care products, LED and OLED TV panels and components, apart from accessories such as watches and sunglasses.

Customs duty has also been hiked on food products such as fruit and vegetable juices and certain food preparations. Consumers may have to pay more for mobile phones as

"Customs duty hike on a range of products is intended to provide a boost to local manufacturing and promote the 'Make in India' agenda of the government," said Dhanraj Bhagat, Partner, Grant Thornton India. "This has been done in areas where manufacturing can be easily done in India and will also prevent the flood of imported goods especially in the electronics segment."

In the consumer durables segment, the government has hiked customs duty on LCD, LED and OLED TV panels and certain components used to make these TVs to 15 per cent from the existing range of 7.5-10 per cent. In addition, certain specified parts used for manufacturing LCD, LED and OLED TVs panels will also now attract a customs duty of 10 per cent.

"Overall, this could increase the production cost by 2 per cent, on an average, on LED TVs and LCD TVs for companies that import components and panels," said Consumer durables industry expert CM Singh. "For largersize LED TVs and premium products such as OLED TVs, costs could increase by as much as 5 per cent. However, it remains to be seen whether companies will pass this increase in costs to Manish Sharma, President & CEO, Panasonic India and South Asia, said the company is reviewing the impact on pricing due to the customs duty hike. "However, in the mid to long term, the ACE (appliances and consumer electronics) industry will certainly benefit from this initiative, as it will help boost local manufacturing."

Personal care dearer The government has also increased customs duty on imported personal care and toiletries such as perfumes, beauty or make-up preparations, including sunscreen, shaving and after-shave products, deodorisers, personal deodorants and toilet water to 20 per cent. Accessories such as imported watches and sunglasses will also now attract 20 per cent custom duty. "The increase in customs duty for perfumes, toiletries, sunglasses and footwear by almost 10 per cent will have a significant impact on prices, directly driving inflation and will impact consumption," said Govind have been hiked to 15 per cent from the existing 10 per cent. Analysts believe this could make some of the international footwear brands who do no or little manufacturing in India look at ramping up local production.

"Since we are known for our outdoor shoe range, our production is a lot more dependent on imported raw materials of global standards," said Harkirat Singh, Managing Director of Aero Club, which owns brand Woodland. "The 5 per cent increase in duties on footwear components will certainly impact our production cost. But we are still evaluating on whether we will hike prices or absorb the costs." The company will also see a marginal increase in cost of production for its limited-edition product line of specialised technical footwear, which it imports.

Shriti Malhotra, Chief Operating Officer, The Body Shop India, added: "A hike in customs duty will definitely impact the sector negatively, however the exact implications will have to be evaluated."

Beverages costlier

Meanwhile, the government has also hiked customs duty on orange fruit juice to 35 per cent and other fruit juices and vegetable juices, including cranberry juice, to 50 per cent. The leading international packaged juice companies in the country have been ramping up local sourcing of fruits and largely produce fruit juices locally. However, some niche players import juices and concentrates of certain flavours such as cranberry.

A senior executive with a food company, who did not wish to be identified said: "Most of the companies make and package juices locally. However, for certain flavours, such as cranberry, the juices and concentrates are imported. One will need to evaluate the impact for such companies."

In the mobile phones segment also, consumers may have to pay more on their handsets, especially the highend smartphones imported by Apple, Samsung, HTC and Xiaomi.

However, the proposed move has been welcomed by Indian smartphone manufacturers, including Inex and Micromax.

"Such moves encourage Intex, which has been working on enhancing domestic capacities and has recently begun its own Open Cell Manumanufacturing to improve quality control," said Rajeev Jain, Chief Financial Officer, Intex Technologies.

"The increase in customs duty on mobiles will encourage local manufacturing. As India is becoming the global hub for manufacturing, the measures taken by the government will surely instil confidence among the manufacturers," said Rajesh Aggarwal, co-Founder, Micromax.

Good in parts, say industry leaders

Focus on health welcomed, but infrastructure players unhappy

Industry called Budget 2018-19 "progressive" as it focussed on the much-needed areas of agricul-

Shobana Kamineni, CII President, said the comprehensive approach to health was "extremely welcome". She, however, pointed out that corporate tax rates had not changed, though some deductions were "welcome". "What we would like to see is how much of this is going to translate into jobs on the ground". Dr Naresh Trehan, Chairman, CII Healthcare Council, also gave "full marks" to the focus on health.

Abhishek Goenka, Partner, Tax and Regulatory Services, PwC, felt that instead of resorting to populist measures, some recognition had been given to rural distress. "However, I am disappointed on the issue of corporate tax rates. They have lowered taxes from 30 per cent to 25 per cent for companies with a turnover of up to ₹250 crore, but that's patchwork. It should have been done across the board".

Meanwhile, those in the infrastructure sector were visibly disappointed. A corporate leader who did not want to be named said: "I did not see a major push in housing for all. The only redeeming feature was that the FM announced the renewal of 36,000 km of railway lines."

Minimum Alternate Tax: A levy with many twists and turns

SURESH PIYENGAR

The Minimum Alternate Tax (MAT) is one of the oldest and most controversial levies, and it has gone through many twists and turns after being challenged in legal forums.

Many companies escaped the tax net as the then government allowed several deductions and exemptions, which could be utilised to significantly lower or escape tax liability completely. Rajiv Gandhi, in his Budget, ensured that all domestic companies pay a tax of at least 15 per cent on their profit. A decade later, P Chidambaram, in Budget 1996, came up with the 'Minimum Alternate Tax' – keeping out just the power and infrastructure sectors.

This was refined further in his 'dream budget' the next year to exempt export profits, besides introducing a new carryforward system.

Less taxing for SMEs

Corporates whose turnover is ₹250 crore or less in 2016-17 can now enjoy a lower tax rate of 25 per cent versus 30 per cent earlier. The effective tax rate for this bunch of companies (assuming income of less than ₹10 crore) comes to 27.82 per cent now compared to 33.06 per cent earlier. Had the education cess not been hiked to 4 per cent from 3 per cent currently, the effective tax rate would have been an even lower 27.55 per cent. Of the listed universe of 4,600 stocks, 3,360-plus stocks (73 per cent) have a turnover of ₹250 crore or less.

The Finance Minister, however, dashed the hopes of corporates on removal of dividend distribution tax (DDT). Thus, all big dividend payers of the listed universe, including Coal India, TCS, Indian Oil Corporation, ONGC and Infosys, will have to continue to cough up DDT from their pockets at the rate of 15 per cent (the effective tax rate is 20.55 per cent, including surcharge and tax). Small infrastructure, cement and other companies expecting a relief on MAT (minimum alternate tax) from 18.5 per cent to 15 per cent were also disappointed.

The background

It all started in 2015-16, with the Finance Minister announcing that corporate tax would be cut from 30 per cent to 25 per cent over a period of four years, with deductions and exemptions getting phased out simultaneously. But,

No cut in dividend distribution tax the corporate sector couldn't heave a sigh of relief, as in the same year, the Minister also silently increased the surcharge on corporate tax, for companies with an income of up to ₹10 crore – from 5 per cent to 7 per cent and for an income above ₹10 crore — from 10 per cent to 12 per cent. The effective tax rate in 2015-16 thus turned out be sharply higher – 28.24 per cent versus 24.67 per cent in the previous year. In 2016-17, the Finance Minister cut the tax rate for companies making a profit of not more than $\mathbb{T}5$ crore to 29 per cent. Also, all new manufacturing companies incorporated after March 1, 2016 were given an option to be taxed at 25 per cent provided they did not claim any exemptions.

The Minister also said that with effect from April 1, 2017, the investment-linked deduction available on scientific research would be cut. The sunset date for commencement of operations for infrastructure and SEZ developers was set at April 1, 2017. He also stated that units in SEZs commencing production after April 1, 2020, cannot claim any

In the next year – 2017-18 – the Finance Minister extended the tax relief to a larger section of corporates. Companies with an annual turnover of ₹50 crore or less saw their tax rate being cut to 25 per cent, versus 28.24 per cent in the previous year.

The verdict

It is a move in he right direction. However, only when the tax cut comes down across the board, will India Inc's competitive edge improve.

Will the Budget unleash the animal spirits?

While the Finance Minister has failed to catalyse the capex recovery, he has ensured that the green-shoots are not smothered nvestment, according former Reserve Bank of India governor C Rangarajan, is an act of faith in the future. It is the lack of this confidence that has seen investment in the economy sluggish and remain lacklustre over the last few years. At 26.4 percent the Gross Fixed Capital Formation (GFCF) – a measure of investment in the economy as a percentage of GDP, is at its lowest level in the last 13 years. It goes without saying that a strong GFCF is critical to regain a higher pace of growth. During the heady days of 2005-11 when the Indian economy clocked average growth of 8.8 percent, average GFCF was 31.57 percent. The decline in GFCF is largely attributed to lower investment by India Inc. At around 22 percent of GDP, private investment today is as much as it was way back in 2004-05.

The 2018 Economic Survey rightly emphasised the importance of private investment by saying "...India must continue improving the climate for rapid economic growth on the strength of the only two truly sustainable engines — private investment and exports.'

The expectation in the run up to the Budget was that Finance Minister Arun Jaitley would go a long way to lift business sentiment and offer strong incentives for investment, including a possible across-theboard reduction in corporate tax. This is because the feeling, as encapsulated in the Economic Survey, was that the slowdown in investment was difficult to reverse as it stemmed from balance-sheet stress and the fall was so large that an automatic bounce-back was unlikely. But Jaitley seems to think otherwise and has preferred the green shoots of a recovery that is being felt now to evolve on its own into a broad-based capex revival. On his part, he has not done anything in the Budget to upset that recovery.

Green shoots

GFCF, which had shrunk by 2.1 percent in the last quarter of FY17, has begun to grow. In the first quarter of the current fiscal year it grew by 1.6 percent, followed by 4.7 percent growth in the second quarter. A sharp recovery in demand for certain sectors, such as auto, construction equipment, machine tools, tractors, cement (in select regions) and fertilisers, has seen their capacity utilisation move up, and some of them have started to free up their capacities apart from contemplating expansion. "For the first time in six years I have started to worry about capacity constraints," Srivats Ram, Managing Director, Wheels India, a TVS group company, told BusinessLine recently.

A revival in exports, on the back of a strong global economy, is also helping. After two years of contraction in 2014-15 and 2015-16, exports grew by 7.80 percent in 2016-17 and are expected to grow by 15 percent this fiscal year. That will still be far lower than the 21 percent expansion during the high growth period of the 2005-11 period.

Average capacity utilisation, at 71 per cent, is way below the threshold

A sharp recovery in demand for certain sectors, such as like auto, construction equipment, machine tools, tractors, cement (in select regions) and fertilisers that triggers a broad-based recovery. Also, some sectors, such as power, telecom and mining, which are typically capital intensive, are still deleveraging.

"Investment takes place all the time. Just that it needs to grow faster to generate a higher pace of growth," says DK Joshi, Chief Economist at Crisil, adding, "fullfledged growth is unlikely under the present circumstances."

The numbers seem to support his argument. Revenue growth of listed corporates in Q2 of FY18 stood at 9.5 per cent. In comparison it was at 32 per cent in Q2 of 2007-08, when the economy grew at over 9 per

It appears that Jaitley found it prudent, politically and otherwise, not to offer major incentives such as an across-the-board cut in corporate tax and instead is allowing some of the government's significant recent measures, such as GST, Bankruptcy Code, relaxation of FDI rules and recapitalisation of banks, to work their magic and boost investor sentiment, private invest-ment and thereby economic growth.

But by doing so, he is ignoring the advice of Chief Economic Adviser Arvind Subramanian, who has characterised the investment slowdown as "deep" and opined that without a clear and urgent agenda, the revival will be slower and shallower.

For Kolhapur's SME belt, tax saved is investment made

Kolhapur/Mumbai, February 1

At the Caspro Group's foundry in Kolhapur, a factory worker is looking very intently at a crucible holding molten steel. He deftly manoeuvres the flaming vessel towards moulds, which soon take the shape of machine parts. Some of these parts will be used by automobile makers for their latest cars and trucks, other parts will be used for the braking system of InterCity Express trains in Germany

The high-speed train, travelling at 300 km per hour, connects all major cities in Germany. These sturdy parts, passing German quality standards, are made at Caspro's Kolhapur foundry.

Positive move

Thursday's budgetary announcement of lowering corporate tax from 30 per cent to 25 per cent for companies with a turnover of up to ₹250 crore is seen by foundries such as Caspro and other MSMEs in Kolhapur as a positive move that will help then plough back the surplus for business expansion.

Kolhapur, a well-known town in Western Maharashtra, is not only famous for its sugar mills, chillies and wrestlers, it is also home to over 425 foundry units, providing direct employment to over 90,000 workers.

The foundry business is spread around Kolhapur city and rural areas at five locations. Casting and machining of components ways, automobile and various industrial plants is done in the foundries. The exports from Kolhapur are about ₹350 crore.

foundry technology. The foundry industry in Kolhapur was traditionally used for supplying parts to oil engine makers. These engines were used for sugarcane processing but over the years foundries have supplied its products to a variety of industries. The total production of the Kolhapur foundry industry is estimated to be 7 lakh tonnes per annum, accounting for about 8 per cent of the country's casting production.

Prakash Rathod, Chairman and Managing Director of the Caspro Group, said that the decision of reducing corporate tax will benefit about 50 to 60 per cent of the foundries in Kolhapur.

The surplus revenue will be used to acquire new technologies and machines for the industry from developed countries, he said.

A matter of concern

Abhijeet Naik, Executive Secretary to the Institute of Indian Foundrymen (Kolhapur Chapter), says that the government's policy of introducing Electric Vehicles (EVs) in the country is a matter of worry for foundries.

Electric vehicles require far fewer moving parts than fuel-based vehicle engines, and Naik felt some preventive measure could have been taken in the Budget to help the industry cope with the disruptive change that will come about with the shift to EVs.

Big tax break for small units; more financial help, too

They can plough back their gains or hire more workers

TANYA THOMAS

Indian businesses, the bulk of which are smalland medium-sized, received a massive tax break from the Finance Minister on Thursday. Arun Jaitley was willing to forego ₹7,000 crore of tax revenue to lower the tax rate for small and medium enterprises to 25 per cent next year from the existing 30 per cent.

"The biggest beneficiaries of this Budget are medium, small and micro enterprises – the units which can create massive employment opportunities," said Chandra Shekhar Ghosh, MD, Bandhan Bank. "Besides ensuring easy access to bank loans, the government is working on measures to address bad loans and the stressed accounts of This is the latest shot in the arm for small businesses. Last year, Jaitley had given a similar tax cut to micro enterprises, which have an annual turnover under ₹50 crore. Of the 7 lakh companies that filed income tax returns last year, only about 7,000 had reported a turnover of over ₹250 crore, a mere 1 per cent. These will continue to pay tax at the standing corporate tax rate of 30 per Unproductive tax planning structures (such as depreciation on unproductive assets to save taxes) will now give way to efficient business models resulting in increased output, believes Mahavir Lunawat, Group MD, Pantomath.

In fact, there are a host of schemes in the budget to benefit MSMEs besides the tax break. "This includes ₹3 lakh crore in funds to be made available through the MUDRA scheme," said Sachin Seth, Partner, Financial Advisory Services, EY. "However some of the key initiatives, such as integrating GSTN and TReDS data and creating Aadhaar-like unique ID, will help in achieving exponential growth of online credit to MSMEs through digital platforms. This will cut down manual interventions for credit assessment, cash-flow validation, KYC, disbursals and collections. This will also help financial institutions keep a check on fraudulent activities and use of funds.' Not only can the government train a better eye on MSMEs this way, this also helps companies by integrating financial assistance. A single online loan application platform can now assess overall fund requirements and underwrite risk based on their individual portfolio strategies. "This linkage of GSTN and TReDS data through digital platform adoption will lead to reduced acquisition costs and operating costs and flexibility of loan products, which can further reduce cost of funds to the MSME sector," Seth summarised

A budget for Bharat

It seeks to boost rural incomes and domestic industry with a modicum of fiscal relaxation

he Budget, in its rhetoric and tenor, has been unveiled with an eye on the eight Assembly elections and the general elections in 2019. It reaches out to the rural sector, workers, small industries and senior citizens without, however, going overboard with freebies. There are two broad ideas driving it: boosting the rural economy in order to push industrial demand, and spurring investment in manufacturing as well as job creation by offering import duty protection in labour-intensive sectors in particular.

The Budget does a tightrope walk by reconciling fiscal consolidation with the need to keep the economy growing. If the fiscal stimulus looks muted – at 3.3 per cent for the next year, against 3.5 per cent for 2017-18, in money terms a rise in deficit of less than ₹30,000 crore — it is perhaps because the Centre is wary of rising bond market vields imposing future fiscal costs, besides crowding out private sector lending. A nominal growth rate of 11.5 per cent built into the Budget's revenue and deficit estimates seems credible, with perhaps the underlying assumption of a 5 per cent inflation rate in view of rising oil prices. The Centre is banking on excise duty cuts on petroleum products to neutralise oil price inflation. What is left unsaid is the anticipated rise in crude prices; with the petroleum subsidy remaining almost unchanged at ₹24,933 crore for 2018-19 in relation to the revised estimates, it seems there isn't much room for further reduction.

After the Gujarat elections, a budget for Bharat was always on the cards — more so proposals meant to address prices ruling below the minimum support price. By upping the food subsidy outlay by nearly ₹30,000 crore over the revised estimates for this fiscal, to ₹1,69,323 crore, the Centre has shown that it is dead serious about not allowing price slides to recur. The outlay for agriculture and allied activities has increased by nearly 13 per cent to ₹65,836 crore, of which the Pradhan Mantri Fasal Bima Yojana's outlay has been upped to ₹13,000 crore for 2018-19, a 21.5 per cent increase over the revised estimates of ₹10,698 crore. The rest of the money is to beef up marketing infrastructure as key to ensuring better price realisation. To this end, it has sensibly sought to deploy the MGNREGA scheme. However, rural development outlays have actually fallen in real terms over this year's revised estimate, thanks to which MGNREGA outlays are stagnant. This bolsters the belief that the Modi government is biased towards infrastructure creation rather than distress schemes. It seeks to extend crop insurance and bank outreach to share-croppers and

The big bang announcement, of course, was $oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{oldsymbol{ol{oldsymbol{ol}}}}}}}}}}}}}$ public health protection scheme – the National Health Protection Scheme will cover over 10 crore poor and vulnerable families (approximately 50 crore beneficiaries) providing up to ₹5 lakh cover per family per year for secondary and tertiary care, including hospitalisation. While it marks a welcome shift towards universalisation of welfare schemes, with no outlay being earmarked and the contours unknown, the impact remains unclear. Arun Jaitley has also reached out to workers and women by extending EPF support. Small-scale industries, hurt by GST, have got a fillip, with companies below a turnover of ₹250 crore being allowed to pay corporate taxes at 25 per cent, the threshold having been raised from ₹50 crore to include a greater number of small companies. For senior citizens, this is a budget to savour, with their interest income up to ₹50,000 being exempt from taxes, against ₹10,000 at present. What's more, the standard deduction of ₹40,000 works best for them. Investors, including sections of the middle class, would have less reason to cheer, with dividends on mutual funds being taxed as well as long-term capital gains tax being imposed. The consumer will not be amused by the hike in the education cess either. However, the Budget is pro-actively producer-centric, whether it is boosting farm output, or sectors such as leather and toys that have been hurt by Chinese imports. It has chosen to reach out to sections that have hitherto been less pampered than the urban middle class – the traditional support base of the BJP. The question of reviving investments – key to pushing growth – remains largely unaddressed.

A stand-out feature is the whopping 67 per cent rise in estimated GST revenues in 2018-19 over the revised estimates, or from ₹4.44 lakh crore to ₹7.43 lakh crore. Even if one concedes that the ₹4.44 lakh crore is for nine months this year, this is an ambitious target. An expenditure increase of 9 per cent, excluding transfers, is not extraordinary. The Budget math is based on a combination of compliance and growth. Finally, the Government is betting on its own reform initiatives.

The theme this time is inclusive growth

Higher expenditure on agriculture, health and education, employment and MSME credit will all aid active inclusion pre-election budget was expected to be populist. On the face of it with large expenditures announced for agriculture, for employment generation, for social security, and fiscal slippage, it would seem to be a populist budget. But the nature of the expenditure increase and the slippage taken in context suggest that fiscal consolidation remains in place.

Inclusion is essential for sustainable growth. But only active inclusion is sustainable. Active inclusion is that which increases capabilities and allows more people to contribute to and participate in the benefits of growth. Expenditure on agricultural productivity, health and education, employment and MSME credit will all aid active inclusion.

As the last budget before the elections it does send a clear signal of working towards empowerment and active inclusion, where the attempt is to make working, living and doing business simpler, while better-targeted direct benefit transfers help those unable to work.

Composition of expenditure

The overall expenditure increase is at 12 per cent, very much in line with expected nominal GDP growth of 11.5 per cent.

Despite structural changes, the last year showed considerable tax buoyancy that will be enhanced in the next year. Even a modest increase in total expenditure allows a $2.5-trillion economy to spend large absolute amounts. The impact of the expenditure can be enhanced if it is well designed.

While expenditure on subsidies, for example petroleum, remains capped, there are large increases in spending for infrastructure, on reducing vulnerability (health), and increasing human capacity (education). Public expenditure that creates public assets has a higher and more persistent growth multiplier compared to the public consumption expenditure multiplier, because, apart from maintaining demand, it also reduces costs. Expenditure on non-tradeables also leaks less abroad.

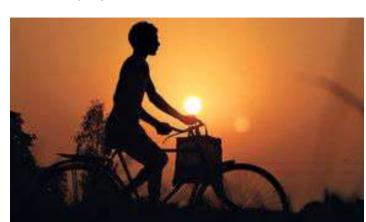

Is the promised increase in minimum support prices (MSP) potentially inflationary? Large increases given by the previous government contributed to maintaining high food and general inflation. This government has kept the MSP increase low, which contributed to reducing

There are two alleviating factors today. First, a general glut in agriculture will tend to moderate overall price increase. Second, past and ongoing action on the supply-side, which is increasing productivity and lowering cost of production, will moderate price increase despite giving a higher mark-up on costs. Sensitivity of overall inflation to food inflation makes increasing agricultural productivity especially

Fiscal consolidation

Fiscal deficit ratio this year has come in at 3.5 per cent (target 3.2) and is projected for 3.3 next year, marginally above the agreed-to fiscal deficit reduction path, which would have taken the FD ratio to 3 per cent next year.

However, the departure is marginal and credibility is maintained for two reasons. First, the recommendations of the new FRBM

Everyone counts When populism takes a back seat AP

(Fiscal Responsibility and Budget Management) committee have been accepted with respect to a debt reduction path to a 40 per cent debt ratio and reaching a 3 per cent FD ratio by 2021. Second, even the FRBM committee had allowed a 0.5 percentage point departure from the FD target in a year of structural change. And a year when GST is introduced is a year of major structural change when slippages in revenue targets are to be expected. The deviation is small, less than that 0.5 percentage point.

Markets were also worried about government borrowing, with rates on benchmark 10-year g-secs hardening to above 7 per cent when the repo rate is at 6 per cent. But this budget should assuage market worries. With signs of a recovery in growth and real interest rates falling, debt ratios will fall faster. The gross borrowing requirement at ₹6.3 trillion is only marginally above last year's ₹6 trillion, and should be absorbed in a growing market. Net market borrowing is ₹4.62 trillion, only marginally above market expectations.

The tax buoyancy visible from GST and the rise in direct taxes may actually reduce borrowing requirement over the year. Moreover, in a booming equity market the Government may be able to raise more than the modest ₹80,000 crore estimated from disinvestment. This vear they raised ₹1 lakh crore, exceeding their target for the first time, and by a massive ₹25,000 crore. Measures for innovative financing and selling ready assets to raise money for new investment and channeling more long-term savings, such as pension funds Indian and foreign, to infrastructure, will also help in financing expenditure without straining markets.

Incentives and governance

As they say, the way to hell is paved with good intentions. The latter do not matter unless they can be translated into actual achievements. However, there are measures that improve governance and incent-

The budget continues and consolidates tax reform to widen the tax base and lower taxes. This improves incentives for compliance, pushing India towards a norm where all pay reasonable taxes. Corporate tax has been cut to 25 per cent for 99 per cent of firms. This will help MSMEs and job-creating centives to increase employment. There are measures to improve coordination across government departments to improve ease of doing business, such as the creation of a special logistics cell, and to en-

The grandfathering clause for the long-term capital gains tax on equity investment has helped markets absorb it without over-reacting. This, together with higher tax exemptions on income from fixed deposits will help even the playing field between different assets and discourage households from entering narrow markets at high price earnings ratios. This is good for financial stability. More, however, could have been done in this critical area. Payments to farmers could be made conditional on phyto-sanitary measures that would improve the acceptability of agricultural exports. There was nothing on increasing finances available to urban local bodies. This is essential to support urbanisa-

While education was emphasised, the word 'skills' was barely mentioned in the budget speech. The absence of appropriate training is becoming a critical bottleneck in transferring youth out of farm jobs, which is essential to raising rural incomes.

There are problems such as certification requirements that the informal sector cannot satisfy, the absence of industry standards, or entry restrictions as in medical education that prevent government funds available for training being well used. Just increasing expenditure allocation is inadequate. These aspects need to be addressed.

healthy, prospering Bharat is clearly the fulcrum of the Union L budget this time. A plan for inside-out growth, as it were. That's par for the course given that for a while now, farm and rural distress has been vexing, despite two good monsoons.

Overall, Thursday's pronouncements will touch rural lives, farmer incomes, and profitability and efficiency of MSMEs. Women entrepreneurs get a special mention, too.

Major decisions But the four most important decisions are the facilitation of financing beyond banks through the corporate bond market, the largest healthcare scheme to cover the poor and vulnerable, and reduction in corporate tax to 25 per cent for small and medium companies, and the breach in the fiscal deficit target. First up, the corporate bond market. A troika of facilitations have been made: large corporates have to meet 25 per cent of funding needs through bonds; regulators will be persuaded to recognise 'A' rating category bond investments; and lastly, States are being pushed to ensure uniform stamp duty on bond issuances. Implementation of these steps will take a chunk of the lending market away from the banking channel over a period o time, and also engender greater credit market efficiencies.

But the flip side is that a slower path towards fiscal consolidation could lead to higher interest rates that, in turn, reduces the relative competitiveness of bonds compared with banks.

Yet this cyclical disadvantage does not materially alter the impact of structural benefits that can arise from the implementation of the three facilitations, such as more issuers accessing the bond market, more opportunities for investors, and greater ease and efficiency in the issuance process.

We believe that a couple of additional steps can add further shine. These include establishment of a Bond Guarantee Fund of India to provide credit enhancements for lower rated bonds, and regulatory recognition to the recently launched expected loss, or EL, scale by rating agencies.

The second-most important move is the new National Health Protection Scheme (NHPS), which proposes to provide 10 crore poor and vulnerable families coverage of up to ₹5 lakh per family per year for secondary and tertiary care hospitalisation. This is extraordinarily ambitious and sweeping as it proposes to cover a whopping onethird of Indian households. Administering this would be a big challenge given the paucity of health infrastructure in the country. To boot, the budgetary allocation to this scheme seems inadequate, and therefore, it is likely that this scheme will be administered over a period of time. So, immediate gains are unlikely. The third important move is to reduce corporate tax to 25 per cent for companies with revenue less than ₹250 crore. This will help a lot of new economy companies, and therefore, is positive for innovation. As it is for MSMEs. This, along with the proposal to onboard public sector banks and corporates on the Trade Electronic Receivable Discounting System platform and link this with GSTN, will help improve the cash flows of MSMEs.

Fourthly, on the fiscal side, some of the initiatives have caused, and will cause, a worrying stretch, or a transient deterioration in the defiexpected in a pre-election year.

External push

Interestingly, while the budget proposals will incrementally contribute to economic expansion, the pace will come from factors outside the budget. In fiscal 2018, for instance, despite a near-normal monsoon and a rural-focused budget, the economy slowed and rural distress increased — all because extra budgetary factors turned adverse.

Economic growth has already bottomed out, and will get support from a strong global environment, enhanced ability of the banks to lend following recapitalisation, and another spell of adequate rains.

The bad, the good, the rest

The budget is highly discouraging. The proposal to merge and list government insurance companies is a bad idea. There being no change in tax rates, increased cess, the introduction of an industryfriendly defence policy, the disinvestment policy, the revamping of gold accounts — all these go against the people. The muchtouted national health insurance scheme is also aimed to give profits to private insurance firms. JVLN Murthy

Informed agents

With reference to 'Payment banks: A reality check' by Misha Sharma (February 1), if agents are not properly informed about the products they offer on behalf of payments banks and are not incentivised then we will not achieve the desired results. There is no point giving up on this model at this stage as it can really change the whole financial landscape. Agents require more than handholding;

ideally they should be accompanied by senior resources who have hands-on experience and can answer queries on the ground and have the power to take decisions so that they are able to gain the confidence of the people.

BUDGETLINE 2018-19

Designed for a pre-election year

There is something for everyone, but there are headwinds ahead as gains from low oil prices recede hile last year's budget could be described as 'post-demonetisation pre-introduction of GST', this year's is clearly a pre-election year budget. It has something for everybody: agriculture, health, education, housing, employment, salaried classes, pensioners, the small and medium sectors and infrastructure. The only segment of society that may have been a bit unhappy are those sitting on a pot of money on their investments in the equity market, especially those who would have wanted to exit. How has the FM managed to make everybody happy while keeping the overall fiscal balance not too much off the glide path?

The accompanying table clearly shows the extent of fiscal consolidation achieved in the last three years since the current government took over in 2014. The budget shows a slippage in the fiscal position in 2017-18, especially in revenue deficit, from 1.9 per cent of GDP (BE) to 2.6 (RE) of GDP – slippage of 0.7 per cent. This has occurred despite a healthy increase in tax revenue of ₹42,440 crore beyond what was budgeted. Even the bonanza in capital receipt of ₹1 lakh crore (against projection of ₹72,500 crore) could not contain the fiscal deficit to the budgeted figure of 3.2 per cent. Furthermore, it is presumed that ONGC's acquisition of HPCL for ₹30,000 crore will have been taken into the capital receipts in the budget. ONGC, it is understood, will approach the debt market for funding the acquisition. The fiscal slippage was primarily on account of the non-tax revenue being lower by ₹52,783 crore, compared to what was projected. Slippage on the expenditure side is largely on account of general services, which includes administration, defence, pension and so on. In fact the "good" expenditures - namely, social services — showed an overshooting of only ₹4,000 crore and economic services showed an undershooting of the budgeted expenditure, by

Hence the slippage cannot be justified by saying that the distinction between revenue and capital is not significant or that investment in education and health is as "good" as building roads and bridges. The data shows clearly that

Fiscal position 2017-18

Eyes on polls The budget has made all the right noises AP the slippage happened despite tax buoyancy and bonanza in disinvestment proceeds, and that the expenditure slippage was not in the social and economic services sectors. This leads us to examine the budget estimates for 2018-19.

Eye on actual revenues

Tax revenue is projected to increase by 16.6 per cent against the nominal GDP increase of 11.5 per cent, reflecting the FM's optimism. The projection for non-tax revenue growth at four per cent does not seem to assume any significant change in transfer of dividend from RBI or expectation of improved PSUs' dividend transfer. Also, the projection for capital receipts at ₹80,000 crore against ₹1 lakh crore in 2017-18, seems reasonable, in the light of the tightening liquidity conditions likely to emerge globally and domestically. On the expenditure side, overall growth at 10.1 per cent is lower than the overall nominal GDP growth and, in real terms, does not seem to reflect the impressive promises in the FM's speech. Social sector expenditure is projected to grow at 16 per cent, and this is very welcome. In case, however, the buoyancy in tax revenue is not maintained, the curbs may unfortunately fall on the social sector.

The budget speech made all the right noises. Ultimately it will be the actual revenues and expenditures that will trigger the expected outcomes, and this depends on the key risks the budget faces.

Key risks

The first risk is clearly oil prices. Just as when oil prices went down, there was a positive impact on growth and government revenues, when oil prices go up, there is a negative effect on both. If the government resorts to reduction in taxes, it will impinge on the tax revenue and the fiscal deficit. According to reports, in 2016-17 the Union government earned ₹2.43 lakh crore from excise duty on oil — this was 2.45 times what it earned in 2014-15. The total revenue from oil companies in 2016-17, which includes dividends and taxes from oil marketing companies, was also nearly double that in 2014-15. At the same time, higher oil prices will add to inflation-This brings one to the second risk - namely, food prices. The proposed intention to keep the Minimum Support Price (MSP) for both rabi and kharif crops at one-and-a-half times the cost of production will put pressure on the fiscal deficit, as subsidies may have to be increased beyond the budgeted figures.

Increased oil and food prices would put pressure on inflation, and the third risk is clearly that of inflation. Inflation will increase the cost of government's borrowing. Tightening monetary policy would also imply that banks will face losses on their investment portfolio and their appetite for fresh government bonds may not be what it was in the last few years. Banks are already holding excess government securities and, as credit picks up, the government may find it challenging to put through the borrowing programme without pressure on yields. Increase in government bond yields would mean overall increase in lending rates just when the economy is beginning to pick up and needs affordable credit.

All in all, we are in for difficult times. The positive factors faced on account of low oil prices, low inflation, global liquidity, huge capital inflows are giving way to headwinds. Tackling the real sector by determined action to complete the implementation of stalled projects, push on infrastructure and further reforms in the power sector are the need of the hour, rather than tweaking fiscal or monetary policy to stimulate growth and employment.

A big win for MSMEs

And the incentives for tourism sector will boost overall economy

udget 2018 stood for entrepreneurship, employment and quality of life. Not only it creates opportunities for SMEs with the Mudra Loan allocation of ₹3 lakh crore but further nurtures India as a haven for entrepreneurs. We were expecting a forward-looking budget with a reduction in corporate tax and the government has given a positive nod by bringing it down Another notable aspect is government's strong stand for promoting training and skill development. These measures will help in augmenting the level of skills among the youth, with emphasis on those belonging to the weaker sections of society. The reduction in corporate tax is a much awaited and welcome move. Companies with a total turnover of up to ₹250 crore will have to pay 25 per cent as corporate tax. While this decision will generate a greater feel-good sentiment among corporate India, we are hopeful that the limit will be pegged higher than the current amount so as to benefit more corporate entities.

Tourism in spot

Jaitley's address clearly communicated the government's intentions of boosting tourism in the country. India has always had very strong tourism potential given our rich cultural and historical heritage, variety in ecology, terrains and places of natural beauty. And with a growing economy and ever-increasing Government initiatives like 'e-Tourist Visa', 'Digital India', 'Make in India', etc. there has been an almost simultaneous increase in demand by business and leisure travellers for quality services and accommodation.

The decision to transform 10 prominent tourist places into iconic destinations via private funding, marketing and branding is highly laudable. The decision of investing in strengthening the country's airport network and infrastructure will boost the tourism sector for years to come. The Government plans to increase the number of airports by at least five times the present number of 124 enabling the country to handle the influx of over one billion travellers annually. Accordingly, an allocation of ₹60 crore to kick-start the initiative seems

Besides, the UDAN Scheme will be connecting 64 unconnected airports across India. These measures will increase holiday travel and generate more employment among various sections of society. Apart from encouraging more entrepreneurial ventures and employment, the Budget also plans to increase the quality of life. For this, an agency would be set up to check pollution levels in the NCR, driving greater health coverage which is the need of the day considering the alarming levels of pollution engulfing metro cities.

GST concerns

With these positives, there were also some areas of concern involving GST. One major change which we were expecting was GST being levied on the actual price rather than the declared tariff for hotel accommodation. It is a well-accepted practice globally that discounts are given on the declared tariffs. Therefore, GST on paid tariffs would be realistic and reasonable.

One cannot overlook the fact that hotels and hospitality have countless upstream and downstream linkages. Consequently, the sector generates millions of jobs both directly and indirectly. With the Government making every effort to raise the number of jobs and employment avenues, a more realistic approach in the Budget towards the sector could have been beneficial for all entities involved.

The other cause for concern is the fiscal deficit at 3.5 per cent of GDP for FY2017-18. A higher fiscal deficit would make foreign and institutional investors wary of investing in Indian companies. For India's success story to gain more prominence, it is important that fiscal deficit targets are adhered to. The impact a higher deficit has on a nation's credit rating is already well documented and needs no reiteration, not to mention its negative impact on infla-

Banking on them

Apart from the above, there were other salutary announcements. The decision to recapitalise public sector banks is just what's required since it will allow additional lending of ₹5 lakh crore. The outlay of ₹2.04 lakh crore for the 99 Smart Cities; the decision to develop 35,000 km via an allocation of ₹5.35 lakh crore under the Bharatmala project; the construction of a new tunnel in the Sera Pass; the introduction of the pay-as-you-use system at toll plazas; allocating ₹1.48 lakh crore for Railways' capex; the elimination of unmanned railway crossings; installing escalators at all stations having footfalls of more than 25,000; progressively building stations and trains with Wi-Fi and CCTV; etc. are all steps that will boost tourism footfalls.

Meanwhile, the industry remains hopeful that the missed opportunities of GST implementation on the actual price of hotel accommodation and other allied concerns will be addressed at the earliest in the coming months - in the interests of all entities and issues, including jobs creation. Overall, this budget is a big win for infrastructure, job creation, India's farming community and MSMEs.

Benefits the rich and burdens the poor

ne last full budget of the Narendra Modi government is a classic example of what a post-truth budget looks like. There is a packaging done to show this as a pro-people budget. Look at the gimmickry of reduction in the petroleum prices. There is a reduction of ₹2 per litre because excise duty is being cut across the board. But the same ₹2 per litre is being taken away by increasing the cess on petroleum from ₹6 per litre to ₹8 per litre! In the last six weeks in Delhi, the price of petrol has gone up by ₹7.5 per litre. So ₹2 per litre is meaningless. It does not provide any relief for the people. The reduction in excise duty will benefit corporate houses. Increase in the cess will burden the people. Benefit the rich, burden the poor, that is the logic of this

Now, the "great relief" provided to farmers. At the final year, the NDA regime repeats the same thing they had said in its first year that they would increase the minimum support price to one and a half times to the cost of production. While calculating the cost of production, they do not add the labour of a family that goes into the land. Neither do they add the cost of land rent. The farmer will continue to remain indebted.

Like the demonetisation episode, the budget presented by the Finance minister represents an attack on people's interests that is sought to be window-dressed to appear as its opposite. The budget presents no initiative to increase the mobilisation of revenues by direct taxes applicable to the rich. The Finance Minister talked a lot about measures such as massive expenditures on agriculture and rural development to increase employment, or the flagship national healthcare scheme of increasing medical coverage of 10 crore households to 5 lakh per year. What he did not reveal, however, is that the real priority was maintaining the confidence of international financial interests by reducing the fiscal deficit, to be achieved by bringing the government expenditure to GDP ratio even further down — from 13.2 to 13.0 per cent.

In 2017-18, the Centre had already cut the levels of capital expenditures and on central sector social schemes below the budgeted figures in a desperate attempt to meet a meaningless fiscal deficit target of 3.2 per cent of GDP. The truth, however, is income tax collections so far indicate that their growth over the previous year will be far below the demonetisation-hype-driven target increase of 25 per cent. In such circumstances, the Modi government has madly gone about finding ways of reducing the Centre's expenditure:

The total health expenditure has fallen from 0.32 per cent of GDP (RE, 2017-18) to 0.29 per cent of GDP (BE, 2018-19). Instead of spending on strengthening the public health system, the focus has been shifted to health insurance. At present, the lofty promises made about the health insurance of ₹5 lakh being provided to 10 crore households are not even matched by any budgetary allocation. Allocation to RSBY has increased by only ₹1,529 crore while no allocation has been made for the flagship National Health Care Protection Programme. Even assuming a premium of ₹ 15,000 per year per household, the scheme would require an allocation of ₹ 1,50,000 crore, which is about three times to total health expenditure of the Government.

The allocation for education has fallen from 0.49 per cent of GDP (RE, 2017-18) to 0.45 per cent in 2018-19. Lack of commitment to women's empowerment, the pink cover for the Economic Survey notwithstanding, is reflected in the fact that the gender budget has fallen from 0.68 per cent to 0.65 per cent of GDP. The allocation for welfare of Scheduled Tribes too only constitutes under 1.6 per cent; this is totally disproportionate to the 8 per cent share of tribals in the population. The allocation for welfare of Scheduled Castes is even more dismal, at 2.32 per cent of the total budget.

fter bringing a multitude of structural reforms towards ease of doing business, the Government has now set its target on ease of living. The Budget is a further commitment to a governance regime which is friendly to the farmer, the common man and one that also provides an environment conducive for business and innovation.

Holistic revitalisation of agriculture and rural economy is the centre-piece of this Budget. In addition to the historic decision to increase the MSP of all Rabi crops to 1.5 times the cost of production, the Government has proposed to institutional mechanisms for better price realisation and demand forecast. With the vision of doubling farm income by 2022, the government aims to improve avenues for marketing and has opened up new sources for farm income through sale of excess solar power produced by farmers. To boost financial inclusion in allied sectors like fisheries and dairy, dedicated infrastructure development funds and extension of the facility of Kisan Credit Cards have been provided. The focus is also on enhancing value addition and creating a liberalized agri-export regime.

The Saubhagya Yojana and Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana aim to include all the hitherto left out regions in India's growth story by realizing the dream of power for all and housing for all respectively. The budget aims to consolidate gains in these schemes and boost them further. Apart from providing the necessary support to the backbone of our economy, these initiatives will cumulatively create about 321 crore person days of work, 51 lakh new rural

In consonance with the National Health Policy 2017, the government has taken steps under 'Ayushman Bharat'. Setting up of 1.5 lakh Health and Wellness Centres and provision of health insurance coverage of up to ₹5 lakh per family per year signal a paradigm shift towards universal healthcare.

To further boost access to healthcare the budget provides for at least one medical college for every three parliamentary constituencies and at least one government medical college in each State. The Eklavya Model Residential Schools are a further step towards the socio-cultural rejuvenation of tribal communities.

In continuation of its efforts to incentivise honest taxpayers, the proposed standard deduction aims to reduce their tax burden. This provision will specifically benefit middle income taxpayers as well as pensioners.

To ensure sustained, fast-paced growth of the economy, the budget extensively focuses on infrastructure and transport. Redevelopment of railway stations, provisions of new sub-urban transport systems and setting up a dedicated railway university will go a long way in improving the efficiency of our national carrier. The UDAN scheme brought with it the dual gain of affordability and balanced regional development.

The budget also embraces future challenges and opportunities by providing for institutional responses to disaster resilient infrastructure and artificial intelligence. The setting up of a test-bed for 5G technology signals the departure of days when India used to lag the world in terms of telecom

The Government's committed towards economic empowerment and social inclusion while maintaining fiscal prudence. This is the sign of a mature and confident New India.

A defeatist exercise

The Centre has failed to address agriculture, education and unemployment

t is the last full Budget of this Government, and I should add 'thank god for that'. Let me recall the eco-_ nomic context in which this Budget has been presented. I draw my facts from the Economic Survey presented on January 29.

There are two macro-economic situation vulnerabilities - fiscal account and current account. The real effective exchange rate (REER) has appreciated about 21 per cent since 2014, affecting India's export competitiveness, but the domestic political economy, meaning the BJP, favours a stronger, less-competitive exchange rate.

In the last four years, the level of real agricultural GDP and real agricultural revenues have remained constant. Jobs is the number one issue. Jobs are not being created. Industry – namely the MSMEs — create jobs. Industrial GVA growth has declined from 9.8 per cent in 2015-16, to 6.8 per cent in 2016-17, to 2.7 per cent in 2017-18. In the same period, manufacturing GVA has declined from 12.7 per cent to 7.9 per cent to 3.1 per cent.

The last number on investment (GFCF) was 28.91 per cent of GDP in the second quarter of 2017-18. The last number on CPI inflation was 5.21 per cent in December 2017. The last numbers on credit growth are - non-food credit 10 per cent and credit to 'Industry' 2.1 per cent. In the light of the above, the Budget proposals should have been bold and radical, and backed by adequate provision of funds. Unfortunately, they are a big let-down.

The big disappointments

The first is fiscal deficit. All deficits have crossed the Budget estimates. Against a BE fiscal deficit target for 2017-18 of 3.2, the fiscal number will be 3.5. Even that is questionable. Similarly, for 2018-19, against a target of 3.0, the FM has pegged it at 3.2. The second disappointment is with regard to exports... I did not hear any measures to boost exports.

The third disappointment is on agriculture. There is a promise to increase MSP 1.5 times, but there are no details. The Swaminathan Committee has been remembered in the last year of the Government's tenure! Besides, ₹2000 crore for e-markets and ₹500 crore for Operation Green (whenever the Cabinet will approve the scheme) amount to a pittance. There is nothing to indicate that farmers' real income

The fourth disappointment is on healthcare. The promise of ₹5 lakh per family for secondary and tertiary healthcare is a big jumla. The target group is 10 crore families... The money has not even been provided for a premium, presuming that it is an insurance scheme.

Assuming that each family will avail of ₹50,000, the amount required per year will be ₹5 lakh crore! If the insurance companies will foot the bill, the premium at ₹5,000-15,000 per family will require an outgo of ₹50,000-1,50,000 crore per year. Is the FM

The fifth disappointment is with regard to jobs. The FM has fallen back on the tried-and-failed Mudra scheme. More Mudra loans will mean more tokenism, but no additional jobs.

The sixth disappointment is about investment and credit... nothing to boost private investment... to encourage banks to lend and investors to borrow, for new investment.

The seventh disappointment is about tax relief. There is none for the average taxpayer. Only corporates with income up to ₹250 crore get a tax relief of 5 per cent.

Finally, the most disappointing part is the cut in the outlays on major schemes – MNREGA, PMAY, Swachh Bharat Mission, et al. This is a defeatist Budget. They have clearly run out of India's transition into an economy with a smaller agri workforce necessarily means more spending on rural education, health and infrastructure

udget preparation and presentation in India is no ordinary affair. More by design than by accident, budgets are expected to meet everyone's desires and wishes. This year's exercise was no exception.

Different industry bodies wanted sops specific to them, investors wanted lower taxes and fiscal improvement, the common folk wanted lower inflation and better public services. The immediate aim of the Government was to recoup the erosion in its rural support-base that was witnessed in the recently held elections in a few provinces. There was also a political need on the part of the Government to demonstrate that its flagship long-term initiatives for improved governance, tax compliance, social and economic infrastructure and expansion in the envelope of the formal economy that normally require several electoral cycles to come to full fruition, are also showing results.

The sweep of this budget is indeed wide, as a consequence. There is hardly any major aspect of social and economic life that has been left untouched.

Covering good ground

At one level, there is nothing unusual about it, given the country's vast number of poor, dispossessed and oppressed on the one hand, and its underdeveloped and inefficient social security and infrastructure, on the other. At another, it recognises society's still-prevailing rent-seeking cultural mores, which expect the state to be on one's side from cradle to grave.

A significant section of the population and political class still expect that it is the state's responsibility to expand employment by directly hiring more hands. But, if the experience of the newly developed countries in Asia and elsewhere is any guide, the process of India's transition into an economy with a smaller workforce dependent on agriculture should necessarily involve larger spending on rural education, health and infrastructure, especially road and digital connectivity, leading mainly to higher agricultural income and productivity. It will be apposite to view and evaluate the budget from this perspective, among others.

The aggregate allocation for the Juicy solutions? Only time will tellvm maninathan rural, agriculture and allied sectors is higher by 24 per cent vis-àvis the previous year. The financial infrastructure and support for agricultural activities are also sought to be strengthened. While the target for institutional credit for agriculture has been raised to a record ₹10 lakh crore, the operations of all 63,000 functional primary agricultural societies (PAC) will be modernised by way of computerisation and integration with the core banking systems of their respective district central cooperative banks. The latter-mentioned step can be transformational for the agricultural cooperative system of the country.

The increase in coverage of crop insurance is also noteworthy. The setting up of three funds for irrigation and dairy processing will hopefully address the lack of investment noticed in these areas for a long time. More than being a milestone, the completion of rural electrification in 2018 is also recognition of the fact that significant regional disparities in this regard have finally been addressed. The hike in allocation for rural housing by more than 50 per cent is positive, least of all for its employment generating potential in the adjoining areas.

Markets for produce

While the setting of minimum support price at 1.5 times the production cost of all notified crops is possibly intended to be viewed as the Government's response to the widespread rural distress caused by fluctuating agricultural prices, the budget has done well to announce the modernisation of country-wide markets for agricultural produce and linking the latter to the commodities exchanges. Greater participation of farmers in the emerging country-wide market for agricultural commodities, and hedging price risk - possibly through an institution such as PAC - in the commodities exchanges can reduce the dependence on MSP in future.

In most States, small farmers continue to be at the receiving end of the bargain at mandis run by APMCs, but dominated by middlemen. The budget seeks to expand the coverage of National Agricultural Market (e-NAM) from the current 250 markets to 585 AP-MCs, which will not only reduce the stranglehold of middlemen, but will also be one more important step toward creating a country-wide market for major agricultural commodities.

Target lags

As expected, the fiscal targets for the current year as also for 2018-19 will be missed. Although the deficit for 2018-19 has been pegged at 3.2 per cent of GDP, it is likely that it will be higher at least 3.5 per cent - same as the revised estimate for the current year — for the simple and obvious reason that the next elections will be in 2019, if not earlier. Thus, for the last two years in a row, the fiscal path will deviate from its target trajectory. This will create more uncertainty in the government securities market, which has already been in a bear phase for the last several months and has been the worstperforming in Asia.

Yield on government securities have risen by about 40 basis points since December 2017, and the immediate reaction of the market after the budget presentation was one of nervousness, pushing up the yields all across the curve by 5-10 basis points. By all indications, the Government's average borrowing cost in 2018-19 will be higher by about 50 basis points compared to 2017-18, although the quantum of market borrowing is planned to be lower. Moreover, the banks which hold an overwhelming majority of government securities will make significant valuation losses when they close their books on March 31, 2018, reducing their ability to lend more, all else being the same.

The fiscal slippage will also mean that the confidence of investors arising out of the country's first ratings upgrade in years last November will receive a jolt. A volatile government securities market will also not provide the best environment for introducing important reforms announced in the budget for corporate bonds. A good thing amidst all this is that the Government intends to use the ratio of Central government debt to GDP at 40 per cent as the macroeconomic anchor for its fiscal policies and operations in

On the whole, however, this is a good budget which will promote growth and investment. Its rural and social sector proposals, the most attention-catching and hotly-debated of which is the ₹5 lakh a year assistance to 10 crore families for medical treatment, will likely reduce distress and deprivation, and eventually result in higher and balanced economic activity in the country.

n what will be the last full budget of this government, the FM has focussed on agriculture, health, education, social protection, infrastructure and financial sector developexpectation that he would increase the threshold limit for taxation in the case of individuals, he has not walked the path. He has, however, provided some relief to all strata of society which, however, comes with some heartburn too.

Long-term capital gain (LTCG) tax on sale of equity shares is one such example. From April 1, LTCG (in excess of ₹1 lakh) is proposed to be taxed at 10 per cent (without indexation) if the Securities Transaction Tax is paid both at the time of acquisition as well as transfer of equity share.

The Government has provided a specific method of calculating the cost of acquisition, which will be the higher of actual purchase price; the lower of the fair market value of such an asset on January 31, 2018; and the full value of consideration received or accruing as a result of transfer of the asset.

Standard deduction

Standard deduction at ₹40,000 for salaried individuals has been reintroduced. It, however, comes with the discontinuance of benefits provided for transport allowance (₹19,200 per year) and medical reimbursement (₹15,000 per year). The change would lead to an increase in saving by up to ₹5,800 per year. Keeping in mind the Government's vision of "inclusive growth", differently-abled persons will continue to have the current tax benefit towards transport allowance. The education cess on incometax and secondary and higher education cess on income-tax are to be replaced by health and education cess at 4 per cent (currently 3 per cent). This would result in a minor increase in effective tax rates.

Other proposals for individuals

Senior citizens have the following reasons for cheer: Increase in deduction to ₹50,000 (from ₹30,000) for payments towards health insurance policy, preventive health check-up, and so on. Expenses incurred for the treatment for specified diseases to have an enhanced deduction of ₹1,00,000 (from ₹60,000). There is also an enhanced deduction up to ₹50,000 (currently ₹10,000) on interest income, which will now include interest from fixed deposits and recurring deposits.

The Government has extended the benefit of tax-free withdrawal from NPS to non-employee subscribers, to put them subscribers.

Now let's take a look at the key amendments to corporate taxation. Corporate tax rate is proposed to be reduced to 25 per cent (from 30 per cent) for companies that had a turnover of up to ₹250 crore during 2016-17. The FM expects this to benefit the entire class of MSEs, which account for almost 99 per cent of companies filing tax returns. Also, this should eventually result in continuing the good run of the small- and mid-caps.

The definition of "business connection" is proposed to be widened from 2018-19 to cover situations where entities in India habitually conclude contracts for foreign principals. A concept of "significant economic presence" is proposed to cover emerging digital business

To minimise hardships in the case of genuine transactions in the real estate sector, no adjustments shall be made in cases where the variation between stamp duty value and the sale consideration of the immovable property is not more than 5 per cent of the sale consideration.

A new scheme will be formulated to conduct assessment proceedings using technology, to the extent possible, to enhance ease of administration and improve transparency. Also, certain provisions relating to the country-by-country report (CbCR) will be relaxed to improve effectiveness and reduce compliance burden.

Transitioning agriculture and MSMEs

The focus is not merely on improved financials, but also on efficient execution of programmes

he Narendra Modi government took office on the back of an economy that was in tatters -abroken banking system due to NPAs, and shattered investor confidence due to corruption, scams and years of profligate spending. There were 12 quarters of successive GDP decline, 24 quarters of rising inflation, a record CAD of $400 billion, gross capital formation falling below 30 per cent, and

Today, the GDP has grown, per capita income has increased, FDI flows have steadily increased with 2016-17 clocking a record high of $60.08 billion, toreign excnange reserves are at a record level of almost $410 billion, inflation has moderated and government finances are following a roadmap of fiscal discipline. Crony capitalism and piggy-banking on PSBs have come to an end, a battle against corruption is under way, ease of making investments and doing business has increased, and medium- to long-term investor confidence is high. The World Bank has stated that private investments in India are expected to grow by 8.8 per cent in FY2018-19 to overtake private consumption growth of 7.4 per cent, and thereby drive the growth in India'sGDP in FY2018-19.

The economy has travelled far from those bleak dark days of 2014. Apart from the issue of NPAs, most of the problems inherited in 2014 have been addressed and the economy has further been structurally changed with demonetisation and GST. Although these reforms have come in for criticism, they mark necessary changes for long-term, sustainable, high Budget 2018 has many aspects, but I will focus on two issues that deal with the transition support to two important sectors — agriculture and MSMEs. They account for a large part of jobs and opportunities in India.

Focus on agriculture

Even after seven decades of Independence, agriculture remains in the news for farmer suicides and distress, caused by years of apathetic policymaking. This government has promised a complete restructuring of the agriculture sector and the farming

The Prime Minister has set in motion a series of structural changes to the agriculture sector to transform it into a viable enterprise and financially empower farmers. Long-term initiatives like electronic national agriculture market (e-NAM), renewed focus on irrigation through the Pradhan Mantri Krishi Sinchayee Yojana, emphasis on health of the soil through the Soil Health Card scheme, neem-coating of urea, a farmer-friendly crop insurance scheme PMFBY are all meant to realise the goal of doubling farmers' income by 2022.

But it was clear there was need for transition support before farmers could truly gain from an open, disintermediated market.

This had come through higher MSPs, a big relief in the short term. Allocation of ₹1,400 crore for the food-processing industry, ₹200 crore for agricultural markets, the announcement of Operation Green to ensure year-round production of onions, tomatoes and potatoes, and extending kisaan credit card benefits to fisherfolk will boost the rural economy and help consumers.

More for MSMEs

The MSME sector is a labour-intensive job creator. It is a critical part of our legacy economic model and forms part of the critical supply chain for products and services. The share of the sector in the country's Gross Value Added (GVA) is approximately 32 per cent; MSMEs play a crucial role in providing large-scale employment and in the industrialisation of rural and backward areas. According to the National Sample Survey (NSS) /3rd round, for the period 2015-16, there were 633.8 lakh unincorporated non-agriculture MSMEs in the country engaged in different economic activities providing employment to 11.10 crore workers.

MSMEs account for 17.4 per cent of total NPAs today. They have been caught in the pincer effect of the NPA crisis and transition impacts of demonetisation. I have been urging the Government to create a one-time restructuring window for MSMEs with their NPAs and boost transition support to MSMEs. The finance minister has promised relief on the issue of NPAs for MSMEs. The allocation of ₹3,794 crore for credit support to MSMEs is welcome. Reduced income tax rates of 25 per cent to MSMEs with a new threshold of ₹250 crore is also a welcome step. Further, the finance minister has responded to my request to give some relief to the cashew sector by reducing customs duty on cashew to 2.5 per cent from the current 5 per cent. On the informal front

As far as the informal sector is concerned, the process of formalisation has rapidly started with MUDRA and demonetisation. Since its launch in April 2015, MUDRA Yojana has led to a sanction of ₹4.6 lakh crore in credit to 10.38 lakh MUDRA loans. It is also a great initiative towards financial inclusion and equitable development, as 76 per cent of the loan accounts are of women and more than 50 per cent belong to scheduled caste, scheduled tribe and

OBC groups. Hence, the budget is correct in focusing on accelerating the formalisation by further expanding the reach of MUDRA by allocating ₹3 lakh crore, a nearly 20 per cent rise from last year's allocation of

Of course, the issue of NPAs continues to plague our economy; it is one I wish the Government had started addressing in 2014 as many of us had urged. That remains a solution down the road vith the recapitalisation of danks under way.

And so, apart from these three critical issues that needed intervention and transition support which the budget has delivered there is a clear continuation on the roadmap that commenced in 2014, of transformation into a more competitive, efficient and clean economy that would grow at higher rates. The focus on the poor and rural Indian remains steadfast – using not just higher financial allocations but also a more determined emphasis on execution and integrity. Many solid reforms can now be planned to further boost growth and prosperity in the coming years.

Jaitley's given us a blueprint for the future

The focus on infra, agri will power long-term growth, and benefit the less-privileged too

inance Minister Arun Jaitley has taken care that the budget reflects the values and aspirations of the people and, at the same time, becomes a blueprint for the future. Alongside, it ensures high growth and will benefit the less-privileged sections of society. The minister has taken care that the budget contains seeds of growth which will endure over time. The budget lays emphasis on agriculture, infrastructure, employment and exports. These are the weak points in the current economic situation.

Lush canvas Focussing on realityritu raj konwar

Agriculture and infrastructure are at the core of this budget. Jaitley has given utmost attention to the problems of farmers and has provided for measures such as cluster models and organic agriculture, which would improve value addition in agriculture, and for pricing of products through new institutional systems such as gramin markets, agro-processing and mega food parks, as also maintaining MSP at 1.5 times the market rate. The focus on infrastructure was critical as it will create jobs, ease business and reduce cost of delivery. The additional investment in rail and roads and development of smart cities will create demand for industry and enhance growth of manufacturing, which is already in recovery mode. The economy has recovered from the temporary impacts of demonetisation and improper implementation of GST. Îndustrial growth has picked up and was the fastest in the last five years. The growth of the formal sector, which accounts for about 34 per cent of non-agricultural workforce, is vital to divert unemployed labour to quality jobs in small and large industries.

The finance minister has, therefore, given special consideration to MSMEs, which are important employment generators, by extending the coverage to companies with turnover of ₹250 crore and supplementing EPF with a 12 per cent contribution.

It has been the experience of every fast-growing economy that it has to be supported by exports. The budget has addressed this need and facilitated exports particularly in intensive industries such as textiles, processed food, and leather and footwear, in which India has an advantage

This is extremely important because the rupee has hardened against the dollar due to inflow of FII funds and can come in the way of export expansion.

The expenditure side of the budget is in tune with the needs but there is a revenue shortfall. Consequently, the fiscal deficit, due to changes in the economic situation, went out of hand this year and will not be within the earlier target in spite of the increase in disinvestment.

Why Bengaluru's suburban rail is now a political project

The Centre's allocation of ₹17,000 crore for Bengaluru's suburban rail network is being seen as an attempt by the BJP to corner political ground in the Karnataka capital.

The State goes to the polls in a few months. The city is home to as many as 28 Assembly seats, and has the ability to influence another 60 seats in the neighbouring districts of Kolar, Tumakuru, Chikkaballabur, Hassan, Mandya and

The project

"A suburban network of approximately 160 km, at an estimated cost of ₹17,000 crore, is being planned to cater to the growth of the Bengaluru metropolis," Union Finance Minister Arun Jaitley said in his Budget speech on Thursday.

On Wednesday, the Karnataka State Cabinet had approved ₹349 crore – or 20 per cent of the total project cost of ₹1,745 crore — for the suburban rail

"This was a long pending issue, which has been finalised now. Soon after the Budget provision is made, work will commence. will raise funding as per the suburban railway policy of Indian Railways," explained TB Jayachandra, Karnataka Minister for Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister.

Bengaluru is crucial

In the run-up to the Assembly polls, Bengaluru has gained importance. The BJP, which had a vice-grip over the city civic body (BBMP) and a lion's share of Assembly seats till 2013. However, in the elections held that year, it won only 12 of the 28 Assembly seats, while the incumbent Congress bagged 13. Later, the BJP also lost the civic body polls to the Congress and the Janata Dal-Secular (JD-S).

Now, after urban voters helped the BJP win, but narrowly, in Gujarat, the BJP is pulling out all the stops to regain control of Bengaluru's voters. The party intends to make major gains with Prime Minister Narendra Modi's urban-centric

Also, as the party is weak in Old-Mysore region, any gain in Bengaluru is a plus for the BJP, and could be a game-changer. And while the Mahadayi river-sharing row could cost the party Bengaluru could compensate it.

The "pro-poor, pro-farmer" line was carried forward by Amit Shah who said that the "crores of common people associated with the BJP recognise that the Union Budget this year paves the way for empowerment and upliftment of the poorest sections of the population."

"Special care has been taken to address the welfare of the farmer in the Budget. The government has taken the historical step of increasing MSP's by 1.5 times over the input cost in the direction of doubling farm income

The BJP President also laid specific emphasis in highlighting the Budget promise to provide support of ₹5 lakh for hospitalisation of the poorest 10 crore families.

'False promises'

The Opposition, specifically the Congress, seemed set to portray the BJP as a party that "makes false promises". Former Finance Minister P Chidambaram made a detailed statement underlining that the ruling party has not put its money where its mouth is.

 $Answering\, a\, question\, about\, the\, BJP$ presenting a "populist" Budget in the last full year of its tenure, Chidambaram said: "It is a defeatist Budget. They have run out of ideas, They have a run out of gas. The government has conceded that after four years, it has failed to substantially address three fundamental issues - agriculture, education and unemployment."

While Chidambaram elaborated on how each of the ideas that the BJP has hailed as "historic and big" is not followed with allocations and outlays, Congress President Rahul Gandhi took to Twitter to assert that the BJP has done nothing except make false promises in the last four

"Four years gone; still promising farmers a fair price. Four years gone; fancy schemes, with no matching budgets. Four years years gone; no jobs for our youth. Thankfully, only 1 more year to go. #Budget2018," Rahul tweeted.

Clearly, unemployment and farm distress would be the Congress' main points of attack on the BJP in the days to come, while the ruling party would fashion itself as the "party of the poor and for the poor".

Windfall increase in funds for Dalit, tribal communities

AGENCIES

The allocation of funds for Scheduled Caste (SC) and Scheduled Tribes (ST) has been increased to ₹56,619 crore and ₹39,135 crore respectively, Finance Minister Arun Jaitley said during his Budget presentation on Thursday.

This is an increase of ₹3,900 crore and ₹6,627 crore respectively over the previous year's outlay.

Jaitley said that allocation to SCs was for 279 programmes for the community and the allocation to STs was for 305 programmes for the section.

In 2017-18, the RE (revised estimate) of earmarked allocation for SCs was ₹52,719 crore and ₹32,508 for STs, Jaitley said.

He also announced that the welfare fund for the SCs will get a boost. The Micro Units Development and Refinance Agency Bank (MUDRA) Yojana launched in April 2015 led to the sanction of ₹4.6-lakh crore in credit from ₹10.38 crore MUDRA loans.

While 76 per cent of loan accounts are of women, more than 50 per cent belong to the SCs, STs and Other Backward Classes (OBCs). Budget 2018-19 proposed to set a target of ₹3-lakh crore for lending under MUDRA after having successfully exceeded the targets in all previous years.

LTCG tax not to impact FPI flows

The market's worst fear came true on Thursday. The Budget has proposed to tax long-term capital gains exceeding ₹1 lakh from the transfer of listed equity shares, units of equity-oriented funds at a rate of 10

Though the markets turned nervous immediately after this announcement, the benchmark indices clawed back from the day's lows. Also, to promote the trades in stock exchanges located in the International Financial Services Centre (IFSC), the capital gains on derivatives and certain securities transacted by non-residents have been exempt from tax. Additionally, the Alternative Minimum Tax (AMT) for non-corporates in IFSC has been fixed at a concessional rate of 9 per cent. This could boost transactions in the IFSC at the GIFT City that is beginning to see traction in recent months.

The introduction of long-term capital gains tax in equities is not going to have a major impact on the foreign portfolio investors' flow into the Indian equity market.

India to remain a destination for FPI

Stable economy and

Any impact could be temporary

The background

India has been one of the much sought after emerging market destinations for FPIs. Data from the National Securities Depository Limited (NSDL) is clear evidence for this. Data available for the last 16 years (since 2002), indicates that in only two years, FPIs were net sellers in the Indian equity segment. In 2008, they sold around $12 billion and in 2011 $0.36 billion. On similar lines, after buying about $7.6 billion in equities in 2017, the flows in 2018 have also begun on a strong note with FPIs having pumped in $2.2 billion in January.

Three major factors make India more attractive for the FPIs. Firstly, the Indian economy is considered more stable compared to many of its peers. Secondly, the volatility in the Indian currency is relatively less (and consequently the currency is more stable) compared to other emerging market currencies. This makes the return on investment more attractive for the FPIs. Thirdly, the Indian benchmark indices have given relatively better returns over the last few years. In four out of the last six years, Indian equities have given the best return (year-on-year).

Allowing the gains made until January 31, 2018, to be completely exempt from capital gains tax could be a catch since the markets are currently at record highs. FPIs may want to lock-in some profit to enjoy the benefits of grandfathering. But this could be a short-term phenomenon and will not stop the FPIs from investing in Indian equities. Also, according to Kong do not tax the capital gains from equities, others such as Brazil (15 to 22 per cent), China (25 per cent), and South Africa (22 per cent) do levy this tax. Given this and with India taxing the gains exceeding ₹1 lakh only, FPI flows are unlikely to lose momentum.

15 minutes that shook the Sensex

FM's assurance that all equity investments as on date would be 'grandfathered' from the tax helped recovery

PALAK SHAH

Fifteen minutes during Finance Minister Arun Jaitley's Budget speech caused panic in dealing rooms of most stock broking houses. Months of stock market calm was shattered on Thursday between 12.15 pm and 12.30 pm when Jaitley uttered the words 'Long Term Capital Gains' (LTCG) tax for the first time during the last segment of his two-hour Budget speech, sending a chill creep down the spine of many traders. The Sensex, India's equity gauge, crashed nearly 755 points from the day's high to touch a low of 35,501. Small- and mid-cap stocks were a sea of red in those fifteen minutes.

"A lot of frayed nerves were calmed only when Jaitley uttered the word 'grandfathering' in his speech and within minutes the Sensex was on its way to recovery," said Jatin Shah, a sub-broker for Ventura Securities in Mumbai.

LTCG, the impost most dreaded by stock market players, was imposed by the government in its last full Budget ahead of next year's national elections. While there has been heated debate among stock market players on the tax since December, few believed that the government would dare to implement it in an election year. Jaitley did go for the 'kill' but its impact was at least temporarily nullified as he said that all equity investments as on date would be protected or 'grandfathered' from

"For the stock markets, the day started on a lacklustre note, but those fifteen minutes of confusion on the LTCG gave some nail-biting moments. That apart, there was nothing much," said Sudip Bandyopadhyay, Chairman, Inditrade Capital.

Cheers agri-related ones

Shilpa Kumar, MD & CEO, ICICI Securities, said despite these all-encompassing steps, the government has managed to stay within the acceptable range of fiscal deficit target. Moreover, the broadening of tax was also achieved with the calibrated move of introducing LTCG with the "grandfathering clause" aimed at allaying market concerns.

The Sensex began the day with gains of around 150 points when business news channels flashed that the Finance Minister was on his way to Parliament from North Block. The index extended its gains to 250 points when Jaitley rose to present the Budget at 11 am and there was not much action until after 12 noon as agri-related announcements took the airtime.

Reverses from green

"Usually, there has not been much action in stock markets during Budget days in the recent past as people's fixation with it has come down," said Manish Gunwani, CIO — Equity Investments, Reliance Mutual Fund.

"Yet, on Thursday, people were more attentive than usual due to the initial hype of LTCG and this being the last full Budget ahead of general elections. At the end, I could see more puzzled faces, and the market closing too displayed the same."

But by 1.40 pm, with a little over an hour-and-a-half left for market closing, the Sensex recovered nearly 700 points from the day's low. Just when traders believed the fall was a decoy, the index reversed its course to close at 35,906, nearly 60 points below its Wednesday closing price.

According to Navneet Munot, ED & CIO, SBI Mutual Fund, the other aspects of the Budget such as increased recourse to PSE borrowing (₹1.7 lakh crore), reduced tax differential between bonds and equity (post LTCG), higher MSP for farmers (implying likelihood of higher inflation) and more income in the hands of senior citizens (who invest in fixed income space) can have mixed impact for the bond markets. Consequently, it is too early to ascertain the overall impact on the capital

Divestment: Govt targets ₹80,000 crore

The government expects to raise

₹80,000 crore from PSU disinvestment in the next fiscal, lower than $\mathbf{\xi}\mathbf{1}$ lakh crore raised this financial year.

In the Budget for 2018-19, Finance Minister Arun Jaitley said the Department of Investment and Public Asset Management (DIPAM) will move forward to bring in more Exchange Traded Fund (ETF), including launching a debt fund.

Merger of insurance firms

Also three insurance companies – National Insurance, United Assurance and Oriental Insurance will be merged to create a single entity, which would be listed on the bourses, he said. "We had set a ₹72,500 crore disin-vestment target for 2017-18. We have already exceeded the target and achieved ₹1 lakh crore....I am setting the disinvestment target of ₹80,000 crore for 2018-19," Jaitley said.

He said 40 CPSEs and 24 strategic disinvestment, including that of Air India, are on course, while ONGC take over of HPCL has been completed in the current fiscal.

The 2017-18 Budget had set the target of disinvestment in public sector units at ₹72,500 crore.

This included ₹46,500 crore as disinvestment of CPSEs, ₹15,000 crore from strategic disinvestment and ₹11,000 crore from listing of insurance companies.

The government reduced stake in several PSUs this fiscal, including EIL, NTPC, NALCO and OIL.

Two state-owned insurance companies, GIC and New India Assurance, as well as HUDCO were listed this fiscal.

Boost to rural economy, MSMEs good for earnings growth cycle

Growth evidently takes care of everything, including the stock market. Although investors may, over the next few trading sesnons, react negatively to the imposition of long-term capital gains tax, they will forget the pain once earnings growth starts kicking in and, in turn, the market goes up.

The challenges faced by the rural economy (especially in the wake of demonetisation and crop failures) and the slowing private capex cycle were the two big hurdles to a recovery in earnings growth and were the main concerns of equity investors.

The government partly addressed this on Thursday by giving a boost to the rural sector with many measures, including a formal mechanism for increasing the minimum support price of agricultural produce, allocations to the food processing sector, incorporation of a farm development fund, provision of kisan credit cards, and plans for food parks to enhance farm exports.

Mustafa Nadeem, CEO, Epic Research, expects the Budget to stoke rural demand and boost corporate earnings. According to Rakesh Tarway, Head Research, Reliance Securities, "Companies and sectors deriving much of their revenues from the rural economy, including two-wheelers, fast-moving consumer goods and fertiliser, will benefit.'

Tarway reckons that policy measures in the Budget will lift the agrarian economy and economically weaker sections of the population, which will, in turn, have a farreaching impact on macroeconomic growth rates and narrow the income gap.

The growth of the rural economy will also benefit sectors such as four-wheelers, con-housing (across the entire chain, from housing finance to unamg als), cement and Along with the durables,

rural economy, the boost to the MSME sector will offer benefits similar and also address the problem of the slowing private capex cycle.

"All initiatives are centred around development, growth and enabling the rural poor towards getting higher income and better quality of life," said Sunil Sharma, Chief Investment Officer, Sanctum Wealth Management.

"The other notable point was the reduction in corporate tax rates for MSMEs, which are the engines that drive the economy. This will help free up earnings and capital for investment," he added.

Ghost of LTCG back on Dalal Street

PALAK SHAH

The stock markets are surprised but there is no despondency with regard to long-term capital gains (LTCG) tax. Finance Minister Arun Jaitley has gone for the big 'kill' by implementing a 10 per cent tax on LTCG made from equity investments held beyond a year, which was exemp from any tax so far. "It is too early to gauge the impact of the move, but I credit the government for the bravado it has shown in implementing such a tax on the stock markets in an election year." said Rahul Arora, CEO, Institutional Equities, Nirmal Bang. "Though, the timing could be debated as India is raising its taxes when the world is moving in the opposite direction." The BSE, in a presentation to the government, had said that tax revenue worth around ₹49,000 crore was being lost every year due to lack of LTCG. In 2005, then Finance Minister P Chidambaram had replaced tax on LTCG with the Securities Transaction Tax (STT), which led to a massive boost in derivative trading volumes.

"The charm of holding equity investments for a longer term is likely to go away," said Dhiraj Relli, Managing Director & CEO, HDFC Securities. "Investors may feel there is no incentive for them over traders for playing the longterm game and it will lead to a lot more churn

Up, down, back up: Budget has indices confused

The charts point to more indecisiveness ahead

YOGANAND D BL Research Bureau

Both the bellwether indices, the Nifty and the Sensex, started Thursday in the green, taking positive cues from global markets, ahead of the Budget. They remained in positive territory in the first half of the trading session, but lost their nerve as the Budget presentation turned to the section on taxation proposals.

The implementation of the longterm capital gains (LTCG) tax at 10 per cent on gains over ₹1 lakh triggered a sell-off in the indices: the Nifty slumped below 11,000 and the Sensex below 35,800. However, the sell-off didn't last long and the benchmark indices bounced back into the green, backed by short-covering and buying interest at lower levels.

Lupin on Thursday said it has received final nod from the US health regulator to market its Clobetasol Propionate cream used for the treatment of various skin conditions. The company has received final approval from the United States Food and Drug Administration (USFDA) to market the company's generic Clobetasol Propionate cream USP 0.05 per cent, Lupin said in a statement. The company's product is a generic version of Fougera Pharmaceuticals Inc's Temovate cream, it added. The cream "is indicated for the relief of inflammatory and pruritic manifestations of corticosteroid responsive dermatoses". Shares of Lupin closed 2.30 per cent lower at ₹863.35 on the BSE.

Godrej Properties has entered into joint ventures with local developers and land-owners to develop three real estate projects in Bengaluru and Noida. The company has entered into a joint venture with Sai Srushti Group to develop a 100-acre land parcel in North Bengaluru, Godrej Properties said in a statement. This will be the company's first plotted development project with about 2.15 million sq ft area. The second project in Bengaluru is a joint venture with the promoters of Lahari Music Group, south India's biggest music group, to develop 17 acres of land, with the possibility of further extending the development to 24 acres. Godrej Properties plans to develop a housing project of about 1.4 million sq ft with an option to further increase it to 2 million sq ft. Shares of Godrej Properties closed at ₹807.45, up 0.67 per cent, on the NSE.

Shares of broking companies such as Motilal Oswal, Geojit, Religare Enterprises, and Aditya Birla Money will remain in focus on the re-introduction of long-term capital gains tax. Presenting Budget 2019, Finance Minister Arun Jaitley announced an LTCG tax of 10 per cent on stock market gains exceeding ₹1 lakh. Analysts said though it was a knee-jerk reaction, LTCG will not deter investors from entering the market, as it is still the only real opportunity investment available.

Order win may boost Gammon Infrástructure

0.16% Markets end in red

on LTCG proposal

Benchmark Sensex ended over 58 points lower in highly volatile trade on Thursday as markets gave a thumbs down to Budget proposals such as long-term capital gains tax on equities.

The 30-share index had plunged over 460 points in afternoon trade after Finance Minister Arun Jaitley announced longterm capital gains tax of 10 per cent on stock market gains exceeding ₹1 lakh.

Among the shares that bucked the trend, food processing companies were in demand after the Budget proposed doubling the allocation for the sector to ₹1,400 crore for the next fiscal. Major gainers were Sheetal Cool, Avanti Feeds, Godrej Agrovet and Freshtrop Fruits, rising up to 10 per cent. PTI

A class act

The change

The tone and tenor of the Budget proposals point to 3Qs – qualification, quality and quantum – for the sector that is focussed on the 3Rs. The measures are extremely positive and a great step to reset the education sector that has not learnt new ways to launch itself.

The focus on improving the skill and qualification of teachers in schools through training is a key positive that will have an immediate impact on the quality of education. The idea to treat education from primary to class 12 without segmentation into primary, middle and high school is also a welcome one as it will help evolve a holistic view on learning outcome.

The plans to build on the results of the National Survey of children to develop strategies to improve the quality of education will have a long-term benefit. Better quality of education in Government schools can, over time, help stem the exodus of students to private schools.

The focus on research is also a much needed measure. The quantum of thrust, as seen by the huge investment proposed towards RISE (Revitalising Infrastructure and Systems in Education), will boost the creation of researchfocussed institutions in the country. Funding for developing World Class Institutions has also been increased. These, along with the Research Fellows program to promote

Focus on quality Thrust on research Large investment proposed research, will pay dividends in the form of Intellectual Property creation. The focus on research and higher education will benefit players such as CL Educate.

The background

Education has been a big segment in the country, given its young population. Private education providers in the space have done well, as more children joined schools but the quality of public education faltered. Likewise, lack of growth in higher education institutions, even as college enrolment increased, led to the sprouting of private colleges, with no way to measure quality

In spite of the opportunities, listed education players have not fared well, over the years. Earlier measures to bring digital education in schools have not been successful and companies in this segment faced various issues. Last year, the share price of players in the K-12 space, such as CL Educate and MT Educate, dropped, even as the broader market was upbeat. Others such as Educomp and Zee Learn saw tepid price action.

The unlisted space has been better for education companies. Many smaller players who offer technology or services saw robust private equity funding.

The verdict

The Budget will bring a lot of cheer to students and parents. Investors in the education space can likely see interesting IPOs from players who focus on education quality, in the next few years.

Social welfare: Something old, something new

Allocation for several of the ongoing projects like MNREGA got a big boost in this Budget nce again, the Budget speech laid a lot of thrust on achieving health for all, education for the masses, social security for the poor, increased employment opportunities, housing for poor and social and financial inclusion.

And, as expected, many of the ongoing flagship schemes of the government meant mostly to benefit the poor were highlighted in the last Budget ahead of general elections before May 2019. Several of the schemes, such as Prime Minister's Ujjwala Scheme for providing free LPG connection to rural women and Pradhan Mantri Saubhagya Yojana for providing electricity connections, will see further expansion and more toilets will be built under Swachh Bharat Abhiyan.

However, it is the health cover programme — the National Health Protection Scheme – announced as a flagship programme that will be spoken about by Prime Minister Narendra Modi the most in the months ahead as he steps out to address the public ahead of Assembly elections in States such as Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh and Karnataka.

India's version of Obamacare?

The scheme, which will cover hospitalisation expenses of up to ₹5 lakh, is expected to benefit about 10 crore poor and vulnerable families across the country. Undoubtedly, effective implementation of the scheme will help the masses who currently spend all their savings or borrow for hospital treatments.

While the details of the scheme will be announced in the months ahead, some are already describing it as India's version of Obamacare. Others say it is only a repackaging of the National Health Protection Scheme that was announced in the last Budget but remained largely on paper. Finance Minister Arun Jaitley said this would Budgetary support for major social sector schemes (in F prore) 2018-19 Budget

The Mid-Day Meal Scheme saw 5 per cent increase in the allocation for 2018-19 be the largest government funded healthcare programme.

Yet, this is not the first scheme announced by the NDA government to primarily benefit the uninsured and the under-insured in the country. In Budget 2015-16, the government had announced three social security schemes, Pradhan Mantri Suraksha Bima Yojana and Pradhan Mantri Jeevan Jyoti Bima Yojana as insurance schemes and Atal Pension Yojana as a pension plan. Several crore individuals have already signed up for each of the three social security programmes. Earlier, the government had announced a Jan Dhan Yojana for financial inclusion, which ensured crores of no-frill bank accounts were opened.

Allocation boosted for some

Among the various ongoing social sector schemes, the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee programme continues to command the highest allocation.

The Budget has set aside ₹55,000 crore for the next fiscal, which incidentally is the same amount as the revised estimate for the current fiscal year. It is debatable whether the allocation, the highest since its launch, will be enough considering the high level of rural stress. In the current fiscal year, the government had to increase outlay for the scheme by about 15 per cent as an increasing number of people demanded jobs. Such increase may become necessary if the monsoons are below par in many parts of the country.

Another livelihood programme, the National Livelihood Mission, also known as Aajeevika, saw almost 30 per cent increase in allocation.

The programme is intended to help people be self-employed and meant to benefit seven crore rural households. Given the low level of creation of new jobs, this mission is critical to enable people set up small enterprises that will provide them steady income.

The National Education Mission, which includes Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan, saw its allocation increase over 10 per cent from the revised estimates and 28 per cent over the Budget estimate for the current fiscal year. The Mid-Day Meal Scheme saw 5 per cent increase in the allocation for

The Integrated Child Development Scheme to provide food, pre-school education, and primary healthcare to children under six and their mothers. saw allocation rise by more than 15 per cent over the revised estimates.

Making do with less

The Swachh Bharat Abhiyan, which focuses mostly on building toilets for individual households as well as for community usage, has seen its allocation drop from the revised estimate levels for 2017-18.

The government claims about six crore toilets have already been constructed since it was launched in October 2014 and another two crore will

But it is one of the few flagship programmes that saw its funding drop from the revised estimates level. The Prime Minister Awas Yojana, which is intended to provide a house for every poor household by 2022, saw its alloc-

FROM BLACKBOARD TO DIGITAL BOARD

Education to RISE and shine; R&D in sharp focus

Eklavya Model Residential Schools are proposed to be set up in the hinterland to benefit tribals

New Delhi, February 1

Digitalisation of education and focus on research and development in the premier institutes were among the major announcements made for the education sector in Budget 2018.

'A game changer'

To increase digital intensity in education, the focus of the government would be to move from blackboard to digital board, said Finance Minister Arun Jaitley. Announcing the "Revitalising Infrastructure and Systems in Education" (RISE) initiative to increase investment in research in the premier institutes of the country, he allocated a total investment of ₹1 lakh crore over a period of four years.

"We appreciate the focus towards improving the quality of education and intensifying Digital India. Aiming for blackboard to digital board schools by 2022 will advance teaching and learning methodology for both teachers and students.

The announcement of ₹1 lakh crore to revitalise and upgrade education system will be a game changer towards increasing the digital penetration in education, which will shift the country from a manufacturing base to a research base," said Prashant Bhalla, President, Manav Rachna Educational Institutions.

With the aim to provide quality education to tribal children by 2022, the Finance Minister proposed the forming of Eklavya Model Residential terland in areas that have more than 50 per cent ST population and at least 20.000 tribals.

"Increased numbers of Eklavya residential schools is a predictable move by the government for tribal areas. The Budget pitch of technology and infrastructure may prove to be a 'game changer'," said Ravi Sreedharan, Cofounder of Indian School of Development Management, Noida

"The fact that ₹ 1 lakh crore has been earmarked for revitalising innovation under RISE over the next four years augurs well for the future," said P. Sathyanarayanan, President of SRM University.

Incentivising toppers

Under the Prime Minister's Research Fellows (PMRF) Scheme, 1,000 best B.Tech students will be selected from premier institutions each year and facilities will be provided to them to undertake Ph.D in IITs and IISc with an attractive fellowship.

Emphasising the training of teachers during service, an integrated B.Ed programme for teachers was announced, as also a Railways University in Vadodara and 18 new Schools of Planning and Architecture (SPAs) in IITs and NITs as autonomous schools.

Smart Cities still a work in progress

Outlay up but may fall short of requirement, say experts

BINDU D MENON

One of the signature schemes of the government, Smart Cities Mission, is being further enhanced with an outlay of ₹6,169 crore in 2018-19 as against ₹4,000 crore in 2017-18. However, analysts tracking the sector feel the allocation needs to be further enhanced to spur growth.

Industry experts say the current requirements for smart-city project alone could be in the range of ₹15,000 crore. The outlay for 2018-19 stands at ₹12,169 crore, including ₹6,000 crore for Atal Mission for Rejuvenation and Urban Transformation (AMRUT). A closer look at the Budget reveals that the government allocated a total of ₹9,276.70 crore in 2016-17. For 2018-19, the allocations have gone up to ₹12,169 crore from ₹9,000 crore in 2017-18, a 35 per cent

The Centre has launched 99 smart cities in two years. The first batch of 20 cities was selected in January 2016, and last nine cities were selected as recently as in January 2018.

Technology boost

Says Milind Kothari, Managing Partner, BDO India, "True to the commitment, Smart Cities programme is progressing well and with continued budgetary support, these cities will greatly benefit from a new ecosystem of infrastructure leveraged on the thrust of using technology as the backbone."

A chunk of the fresh allocation has been earmarked for formation of SPVs in 10 Smart Cities, improvement in specific socio-economic indicators based on the specific development theme being pursued by 100 Smart Cities.

"The government expenditure on thousands of projects initiated under Smart Cities Mission across India has already created a large market for the private sector and is going to further translate into jobs at all levels, better and efficient infrastructure and liveable cities for everyone," said NSN Murty, Partner and Leader-Smart Cities, PwC India. As on January 17, 2018, there are 2,948 projects worth ₹1.38 lakh crore, at various stages of implementation. A total 189 projects worth ₹2,237 crore have been completed, and implementation is under way for 495 projects with a cost of ₹18,616 crore.

Interlinked programmes

Sunil Agarwal, Associate Dean and Director, School of Real Estate, RICS SBE, says, "The government has two interlinked programmes to address the urbanisation phenomenon-smart cities and AMRUT. So far, 99 smart cities have been selected with an outlay of ₹2.04 lakh crore. It is good to know that these cities have started implementing the ambitious smart cities mission and about ₹2,350 crore worth of projects have already been completed. Around ₹20,850 crore worth of smart city projects are still under

How Jaitley chipped away at the 'jobless growth' problem

That

Not by addressing it squarely, but by subtly undoing labour market rigidities that inhibit employment

ne of the most politically loaded issues to enliven the discourse in the run-up to the Budget was of jobs - or, rather, the lack thereof.

The perceived inability of policy-making and of targeted skills enhancement schemes, to generate adequate employment for the hundreds of thousands of new entrants to the jobs market every month, and to enhance their employability, has bedevilled the Modi government.

Pushed on the defensive by lingering questions and taunts over the phenomenon of "jobless growth" in the formal sector, Prime Minister Narendra Modi resorted last fortnight to an artless articulation of 'Pakodanomics' — arguing, for instance, that a roadside seller of fritters was, in his own way, gainfully employed and ought to be reflected as such in employment statistics.

That remark came in for much searing criticism from the Opposition and economic commentators.

Subtle changes

Given that backdrop, there was heightened expectation that the Budget would squarely address the problem of employment generation.

What it offered, instead, was a smattering of microproposals that addressed the issue on the margins, whose cumulative effect is somewhat difficult to fathom.

In his Budget speech, Finance Minister Arun Jaitley cited an "independent study" to advance the claim that the tion provided to employers string of policy measures announced over the past three years would generate 70 lakh formal jobs this year.

academic study by Pulak Ghosh, at IIM-Bangalore, and Soumya Kanti Ghosh, Group Chief Economic Adviser at SBI, was based on data from the Employees Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO), and amplified by subsequent newspaper articles in which the authors claimed that India creates more formal jobs (70 lakh) than the number of skilled workers entering the workforce every

Among the proposals that Jaitley cited were government contribution to the EPF in respect of new employees for three years; additional deduc-employment in the apparel and footwear sectors. The increase in paid maternity leave

tion of fixed-term

from 12 weeks to 36 weeks, along with provision for creches in workplaces, had also provided the incentive for more women to take up employment in the formal sector, he noted.

He then expanded the scheme under which the government would contribute 12 per cent to the EPF of new employees to all sectors for three years. Likewise, the facility of fixed-term employment has been extended to all sectors.

From all available evidence, the introduction of fixed-employment, against the current 12 per cent (or 10 per cent). This will, he said, enhance the take-home wages of the women employees, but it comes at a cost to their savings for retirement, which is what EPF contributions are intended for.

Emphasis on social sector

In fact, the Economic Survey had cited enterprise-based GST data and statistics in respect of contributions to the EPF and the Employees State Insurance Scheme to make the somewhat striking claim that formal non-farm payroll in India is considerably higher than earlier estimates.

It is, perhaps, this consideration that allowed the government to address the issue of job generation on the margins, rather than squarely, and devote a greater part of the emphasis in this year's Budget document to its social sectoral allocations.

approved by the Board of Directors at their meetings held on January 31, 2018.

The above is an extract of the detailed format of statement of standalone Unaudited Financial Results for the quarter and nine months ended December 31, 2017 filed with the Stock Exchanges under Regulation 33 of the SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015. The full format of the Statement of Standalone Unaudited Financial Results for the quarter and nine months ended December 31, 2017 are available on the Company's website (www.ipappm.com) and on the websites of BSE Limited (www.bseindia.com) and National Stock Exchange of India Limited (www.nseindia.com).

A Limited Review Report as required under Regulation 33 of the SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015 has been completed on the detailed financial results for the quarter and nine months ended December 31, 2017 filed with the Stock Exchanges.

In the previous year, the Hon'ble High Court for the State of Telangana and the State of Andhra Pradesh upheld the validity of levy of electricity duty @ 25 paisa per unit by the State Government or consumption of electricity by captive generating units relating to earlier years. The Company (along with other petitioners) filed a Special Leave Petition in the Hon'ble Supreme Court, which in the interim directed the petitioners to pay partial amount without prejudice to the rights and contentions of the petitioners, pursuant to which the Company had paid Rs.1,502.05 lakhs under protest in the previous year. The matter is pending hearing.

In view of the inherent uncertainty in predicting the final outcome of the above litigation, the Manag has, on grounds of prudence and abundant caution, made a provision amounting to Rs.2,357.43 lakhs during the previous year towards the potential liability in the event of an unfavourable verdict in this matter, which amount was disclosed as an exceptional item. Additionally, an amount of Rs.1,571.62 lakhs has been disclosed as contingent liability. On the basis of the legal advice obtained, in the opinior of the Management no further provision would be required in relation to this disputed matter.

The minister who relies on plans and lofty schemes alone

But forgets the ground stumbles on reality's stone

FROM OUR RESEARCH BUREAU Nithva Palani

Plugging into gains from electrification schemes

The change

Budget allocation has been increasing over the vears for the power sector. This Budget has increased allocation towards the Saubhagya scheme (household electrification) launched in September 2017 and has also set aside more funds towards the Deen Dayal Upadhyaya Gram Jyoti Yojana (DDUGJY) (electrification of villages). The allocation was ₹2,750 crore towards Saubhagya Scheme and ₹3,800 crore towards DDUGJY.

DDUGIY is targeted to be completed by May 2018 and Saubhagya scheme by March 2019.

The background

Coal shortage, weak demand and reducing PLFs have been the few headwinds faced by power generators in the recent past. Power generating companies like NTPC, Adani Power and Tata Power have been increasing the installed capacity whereas the demand for power remains muted, putting pressure on revenue growth. NTPC, the largest power generation company in India, managed to maintain the plant load factor (PLF) for coal-based plants at 76.6 per cent whereas overall the PLF of coal-based plants has reduced to 59.7 per cent as of November 2017, from 70 per cent in fiscal 2013. The profit growth of power generators has also been muted due to higher input cost and lower offtake. Due regulations overseas, the price of imported coal has increased, leading to increase in operating cost for some power players like Tata Power and Adani Power. NTPC had signed long-term fuel supply agreements with coal producers, which ensures continuous fuel supply to the company, supporting profit growth. Power Grid, the largest transmission company, put up a good show with strong revenue growth and profit growth in the first half of fiscal 2018. This company is also in the process of strengthening transmission lines for distributing additional renewable power.

The verdict

Power generating companies like NTPC, NHPC and power transmission company Power Grid Corporation will benefit from the increase in demand for power, as these schemes expand the reach of electrification in the country. The new schemes are also expected to increase the PLF of power generating companies like NTPC, NHPC, Tata Power and Adani Power, which are unable to utilise their installed capacities due to lower demand. Since the completion target is close, speedier execution could see Power Grid's order book increase.

Coal shortage and increase in imported coal prices remain a big concern for power generators like Adani Power and Tata Power. However, the Budget has left the taxes on coal unchanged. Imported coal used for power generation between April and December 2017 is 43.6 million tonnes, which is around 27 per cent of total coal imports.

Low-voltage tax shots that can power the energy sector

Tiny tweak of excise duty on fuel will help in development of pipelines, storage facilities

RICHA MISHRA/TWESH MISHRA

inance Minister Arun Iaitley's Budget speech was silent on the energy space, but, as the saying goes, 'read the fine print'.

Not only has Jaitley tweaked

the excise duty on petrol and diesel but also extended the direct benefit of Road and Infrastructure Cess to oil and gas pipelines, oil and gas/LNG storage facilities and city gas distribution networks. In fact, Finance Bill, 2018 extends the status to Electricity Generation, Transmission and Distribution as well. Jaitley has trimmed the excise duty on petrol and diesel by ₹2 a litre. He has also abolished road cess of ₹6 a litre and replaced it with a Road and Infrastructure Cess of ₹8 a litre.

The Finance Bill has extended the scope of infrastructure to hydrocarbon as well.

"This will be mean that even projects relating to oil and gas pipelines, city gas distributions, oil/gas/LNG and strategic storage of crude oil can get funds from the government from the cess of ₹8 a litre from petrol and diesel," DK Sarraf, Chairman, Petroleum & Natural Gas Regulatory Authority, told BusinessLine.

According to the proposal, the basic excise duty on unbranded petrol will now be ₹4.48 a litre, while that on unbranded diesel will be ₹6.33 a litre. This, however, does not mean anything for the consumer, as there will be no change in the retail price.

The hydrocarbon industry has been demanding infrastructure status on the grounds that there is no differbetween roads and pipelines. It says it's the way forward to move to a gas-based economy. The excise rejig will allow the government to park

more funds in major infrastructure projects. K Ravichandran, Senior Vice-President and Group Head, Corporate Ratings, ICRA Ltd, said: "The Budget has changed the tax structure for petrol and diesel... so that adequate funds will be available for the road building programme without Now they will have a leeway of ₹8 per litre since the Road and Infrastructure Cess is not applicable to blended fuel. Effectively, the companies will have a margin of ₹2-3 a litre after blending the fuel," he said.

Bengaluru bids goodbye to Rail beku campaign

The suburban railway network for Bengaluru is set to revolutionise commuting in the city. The biggest beneficiaries of the Budget announcement are the techies who commute to workplaces spread over the southern corridor (Mysuru, Hosur and Sar-

(Tumukuru Road) and eastern parts (Old Madras Road).

City-based techies and daily commuters from towns like Channapattna, Ramanagar, Tumukuru, Devanahalli, Chikkaballapura, Kolar, KGF, Attibele and Hosur have held numerous protests through Rail beku ('We want trains') Today's campaigns. nouncement brings the curtains down on the Rail beku campaigns, with expectations high for early implementa-

A couple of months ago, Railway Minister Piyush Goyal had visited the city, studying the present railway infrastructure, and indicated that the issues will be resolved at the earliest.

"So far, we have had heard announcements from Railway Minister Piyush Goyal. The Union Finance Ministry giving approval for the project is a big step," said Sanjeev V Dyamannavar from the advocacy group Praja RAAG, which had been pushing for a suburban rail network for Bengaluru.

"The announcement is a positive step towards the realisation of a long-pending de-suburban railway network for Bengaluru, responding to a long-pending demand

mand through our Rail beku campaign, and we expect early implantation," he

The Karnataka government has also been trying to address the rail demand. After conducting a study of its own on the availability of rail infrastructure and the land required, it brought forth a proposal on Wednesday, which the State Cabinet cleared.

State-Centre SPV

Now following the agreement between the State government and Indian Railways, an SPV will be formed to raise resources to implement the project. When operational, each train is expected to have a caof 1,800-2,000 assengers.

Darpan Jain, Karnataka Commissioner for Industrial Development and Department of Industries and Commerce, said: "The Cabinet hasapproved equity infusion into the SPV for suburban rail projects worth ₹1,745 crore. This will enable the creation of rail infrastructure and new rolling stock to start 58 new trains or 116 new services.'

Taxation U-turns, land acquisition issues pull down SEZs

Mumbai, February 1

When the Maharashtra government decided to turn Navi Mumbai Special Economic Zone (SEZ) into an industrial city, not many were surprised.

The SEZ, which was to be jointly developed by the Reliance Group, Jai Corp, SKIL Infrastructure and City and Industrial Development Corporation (Cidco), had failed to take off owing to mismatched policy expectations and taxation changes.

There are similar stories coming from across the country about SEZ developers either denotifying their projects or stalling work.

Modelled on China's vast industrial corridor and touted as a self-contained industrial enclave to support manufacturing activity, SEZs as a policy have failed to achieve their desired purpose.

Players say SEZs became booming centres for IT/ITES to avail tax incentives by shifting them from domestic tariff areas. While the IT/ITES sector flourished, manufacturing floundered due to flawed taxation and execution issues. Additionally, Minimum Alternate Tax (MAT) levies made SEZs unattractive to prospective

AN IDEA THAT

"Indian SEZs were modelled on their Chinese counterparts. While the Chinese SEZs flourished, SEZs in India didn't meet the desired objectives. Challenges like availability of large contiguous chunks of land, taxation related issues and lack of adequate talent were some of the key challenges," says Neeru Ahuja, Introduced as a policy in 2000 by the then NDA government, the SEZs Bill was approved by both Houses of Parliament in May 2005.

The aim was to create export-led categories with tax and duty concessions. The aim was to include key sectors bility in government decisions. Taxa-

Lack of clarity

Several developers such as DLF, Parsvnath and Shriram Properties, which acquired land for developing SEZs, denotified them in 2013 owing to slow demand and lack of clarity on MAT.

A 2014 CAG report points out that 52 per cent of the land approved for allotment to SEZs remains idle and SEZs have not had any significant impact on economic growth, trade, infrastructure, investment or employment.

Ajay Sahai, DG and CEO, FIEO, says: The SEZ profile is not diversified. Even if we look at the current exports from SEZ, a large chunk comes from IT/ITES and petroleum.

The concept of SEZ is good and in GST regime it will be beneficial to players as all inputs can be found in one place. The government needs to look at SEZs from a holistic perspective and remove deficiencies.'

Infra firms build on higher funding

The various measures announced in the Budget for infrastructure are quite positive for the sector. Inland waterway projects are progressing well and are set to see continued thrust. This will provide a boost to players such as Dredging Corporation of India.

Also, the focus on water supply in the AMRUT programme as well as higher spending on the Watershed Development Component of Pradhan Mantri Krishi Sinchayee Yojana will help infrastructure players such as ITD

Road developers are also set to benefit from the strong execution in projects and allocation to Bharatmala programme. Work executed by the Border Roads Development Board and the allocation to North East Road Sector Development Scheme will aid EPC players such as L&T and Sadbhav Engineering.

Higher allocation of funds for port development can turn out to be positive for toll road operators and logistics players as well, besides port infrastructure developers. This is because better port facility and good connectivity boost cargo volumes and vehicle traffic. These measures, along with faster toll collections with Fastags on vehicles will benefit toll road operators such as Ashoka Buildcon and IRB Infra.

The background

The infrastructure sector has been upbeat over the last few years, thanks to the government focus on the sector. That said, road project developers have been facing funding issues, as bank funding has been drying up. Moves such as the launch of InvITs have given a boost to the sector and players with a strong balancesheet have been able to build their order book.

Besides roads, other infrastructure developers such as those in warehousing, port, waterways and airports have also been upbeat. The positive sentiment is likely to continue, as many of the structural issues have been resolved over the years. The key to growth is the availability of private funding, which could be aided by the growth in the bond market.

The BSE India Infrastructure Index has increased 25 per cent in the last year. The stock price of players such as Dilip Buildcon have run up over 250 per cent as there has been a steady stream of projects and pick-up in the pace of completion.

The Budget has delivered along expected lines and the measures will help build on the enthusiasm in the sector.

Strands of discontent in the textile industry

The sector wants higher duty drawback rates, refund of State levies

AMITI SEN

New Delhi, February 1

he Budget allocation for the labour-intensive textiles sector — which provides jobs to about 45 million people - increased 14.7 per cent over the previous year to ₹7,148 crore.

The rate of growth in allocation for the new fiscal, however, is less than half the increased allocation of over 30 per cent to ₹6,226.5 crore in 2017-18.

The textile sector, which is facing double trouble in the form of lower exports, especially of garments, and higher imports from countries such as Bangladesh, had sought higher rates of reimbursement under the duty drawback and refund of State levies (ROSL) following the implementation of the new GST regime.

It also demanded higher disbursement under the Amended Technology Upgradation Fund Scheme (ATUFS).

"Adequate budgetary allocation for schemes such as refund of State levies and interest subvention benefits can help improve competitiveness of textile exporters and boost export growth," industry analyst ICRA had said in a pre-Budget note. While allocation for the ATUFS has been raised to ₹2,300 crore in 2018-19 from ₹1,956 crore in 2017-18, it is still lower than the allocation of ₹2,622 crore in 2016-17.

Provision for ROSL for 2018-19 is higher at ₹2,222 crore compared to ₹1,939 crore last year, but the ROSL rates remain unchanged.

"The industry was hoping for some support to mitigate the financial crunch, especially because it faced a severe reduction in the drawback and RoSL benefits. The industry is looking forward to increased interest subvention from the existing 3 per cent to 6 per cent, to help stay competitive, as several other countries have much lower interest rates," pointed out HKL Magu from the Apparel Export Promotion Council.

As per industry calculations, under the new GST and drawback rules, reimbursements of taxes for the sector has dropped to the extent of 7 per cent (of the value of exports), whereas an additional incentive of 2 per cent was given to the sector in the foreign trade policy review in December. This resulted in a shortfall of 5 per cent, leading to a fall in exports, according to AEPC.

Exports down

Export of garments and textiles fell 3 per cent in December 2017 to $2.99 billion, although in the April-December 2017 period it grew 2 per cent at $26.13

According to figures compiled by textile body CITI, India's imports of garments from Bangladesh increased 66 per cent to $111.3 million during July-December 2017 compared to $66.9 million in the same period last

Airports set to move 1 billion passengers a year

K GIRIPRAKASH ASHWINI PHADNIS

Hours after the Union Finance Minster, Arun Jaitley announced that the Airports Authority of India (AAI) will upgrade several airports, its chairman disclosed that the state-owned airport developer plans to spend ₹14,000-₹15,000 crore in the next fiscal for the creation of new airport termin-

Guruprasad Mohapatra, Chairman, Airports Authority of India, told BusinessLine that the AAI will expand the capacity of 124 airports through the new investment.

The regional air connectivity scheme (Udan) will also be expanded to connect 56 unserved airports and 31 unserved helipads.

Regional slots

While most stakeholders have lauded the government's move to expand airport capacity, the initiative may come unstuck if metro airports, mostly run by private enterprises, resist the Centre's move to allot slots for regional airlines.

The Budget proposes to expand the capacity of airports five times to cater to one billion passengers a year (No timeline was mentioned). As of now around 100 million travel by air in the country, of whom only 25-30 million are frequent flyers.

Capt GR Gopinath, the pioneer of low-cost airlines in the country, termed the initiative 'visionary and transformative'. He said the main metro airports have about 80 per cent of the traffic, which makes for skewed growth.

"For Udan to succeed, you need connectivity from regional airports to the metros. But the metros are not allocating slots for regional airlines," Capt Gopinath said.

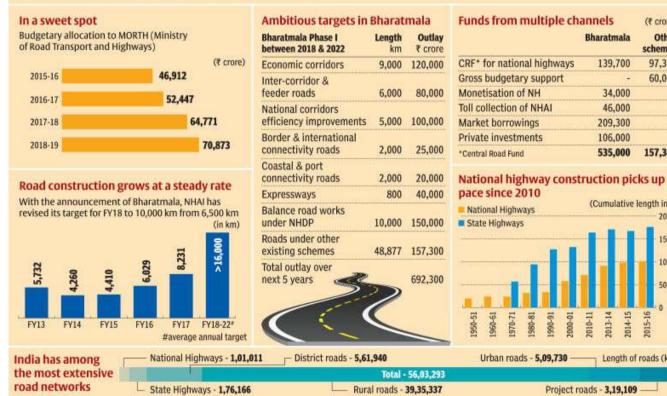

IATA's country director, India, Amitabh Khosla said there was a big question mark on capacity, adding that, "Navi Mumbai airport is still a distant dream. In the meantime, Mumbai continues to fall behind in aviation activity, and Maharashtra is unable to maximise the economic potential that can be delivered by aviation. We urge the government to urgently look at innovative approaches to bridge the infrastructure shortfall."

Spicejet's CMD Ajay Singh welcomed the initiatives taken by the government and said this will help boost regional connectivity. Peeyush Naidu, a partner with Deloitte, said, "We have everything to gain by bringing different players on to a common platform.I can't see a more reformist agenda than

Roads & Highways: On the fast lane

Road and highway construction has been the lone bright spot in an otherwise declining capital spends scenario. The ambitious Bharatmala Project announced in October 2017 will give a further fillip to this segment

A brick-by-brick approach to Housing for All'

The year was 1999 and the Indian real estate sector had been in the doldrums following the South Asian financial crisis as well as pressure on the Indian currency and high interest rates. Between mid-1995 and 1998, prices had fallen a bruising 40 per cent and a recovery was nowhere in sight. It was in this scenario that then Finance Minister Yashwant Sinha presented a Budget that went a long way in resurrecting

In Sinha's words: "The AN IDEA THAT fiscal incentives are fo-WORKED cussed at the middle-class investors wishing to purchase a dwelling unit." To begin with, he more than doubled the tax deduction on interest on housing loans for self-occupied houses from ₹30,000 to ₹75,000, besides changing foreclosure laws to promote housing mortgages. He announced an amendment that would treat housing projects as infrastructure to give a fillip to construc-

"It was a visionary Budget with measures that were required to kickstart the market. It laid the foundation for other budgets to improve upon and solve the housing crisis in the country," says Samir Jasuja, founder and MD of PropEquity.

Sell to recover To develop the primary and secondary markets for housing mortgages, Sinha announced simplification of legal provisions for foreclosure and transfer of property through amendments in the National Housing Bank Act. As a result, housing finance institutions could recover their overdues by sale of property that was deemed as security for the loan "Post that, the mortgage industry opened up in real estate. And the market grew in the real sense from 2000 till 2005, helped by low interest rates and housing finance companies. Mortgage industry players like HDFC, ICICI propelled the market," says Pankaj Kapoor, MD of real estate consultancy, Li-

"By making changes in foreclosure laws and providing a liberal tax treatment programme on NPAs for housing finance companies, he paved the way for improving demand in the housing segment," says Anshuman Magazine, Chairman, India and South-East Asia,

Sinha had also announced the Golden Jubilee Rural Housing Finance Scheme of NHB to target 1.25 lakh units in 1999-2000. He strengthened housing finance companies through a liberal tax treatment of income on nonperforming assets. Moreover, commercial banks could lend up to three per cent of incremental deposits for housing.

Younger buyers With the increase in tax exemption, the end user was encouraged to invest. "A lot of people moved in to buy properties when the market was coming out of a recession. The pricing was very efficient. With measures like increased tax exemption and sops to housing finance companies, the average age of the consumer reduced to 35 years," Kapoor Till 1998, to enjoy a tax holiday under Section 80IA of the Income Tax Act, the built-up area of dwelling units had to be under 1000 sq feet. He raised the limit to 1500 sq ft, expanding the exemption limit. National Housing Bank even reduced interest rates for small

"The new NHB scheme for interest rate concessions for small borrowers was targeted at making housing available to the lower segments of society. The first seeds were sown to make 'owning a home' reality for all," says Magazine.

Jasuja says the steps were similar to those being taken by the Modi Govt to promote housing. "Never before had such drastic measures for housing had been announced."

Earlier, people would purchase property post-retirement and the number of transactions was limited. These measures created an efficient phase where houses were affordable. Yashwant Sinha gave an impetus to the market when it was needed the most,'

Within a year of this Budget, housing sales began to gather pace and by 2001-02, the sector was at its peak both in pricing and sales growth. With real estate facing turbulent times again now, the sector needs similar path-breaking measures to revive.

More funds to give wings to UDAN scheme

ASHWINI PHADNIS

Carrying forward the government's Regional Connectivity Scheme (RCS) or UDAN, Budget 2018-19 provides, ₹ 1,014.09 crore for operating flights to tier II and tier III cities within the country during 2018-19. This is a five-fold increase from the ₹200 crore made available in the previous year.

provide Viability Gap Funding (VGF) for flights being operated under RCS. The scheme hopes to get the common man fly by connecting tier II and tier III cities in the country.

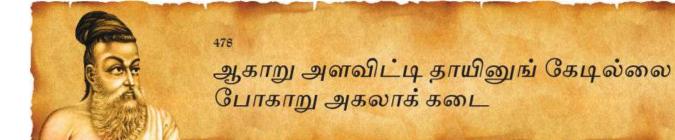

The scheme seeks to incentivise airlines and operators with the government providing Viability Gap Funding to make operations to these cities profitable. Under the scheme, airlines are required to provide at least 50 per cent of the seats on every flight at ₹2,500 for one hour of flying. The ceiling of subsidised seats is 40, while the minimum number of seats on an aircraft which have to be offered to avail VGF is 9.

The ₹1,014.09-crore for VGF will come from the dividend that Airports Authority of India will be paying to the government in 2018-19. The Ministry of Civil Aviation had written to the Finance Ministry seeking that a portion of the dividend being paid by AAI be used to part fund the VGF requirements for UDAN. The Budget also talks about Nex-Gen Airports for National Accreditation Board for Hospitals & Healthcare Providers (NABH), but what these will look like was not immediately clear as officials declined to comment on the proposed structure of these airports.

No matter if the earnings are meager; no calamity'll beset the realm

Just see that the spendings the earnings don't overwhelm

FROM OUR RESEARCH BUREAU Radhika Merwin

Bond markets in for a rocky ride

Caught between the devil and the deep blue sea, the Centre chose to up spending and slip on its fiscal deficit target. The Centre has achieved fiscal deficit of 3.5 per cent for FY18 against its budgeted 3.2 per cent. What is particularly a cause of worry for bond markets is that the Centre has also chosen to offer itself some leeway in the next fiscal -setting the fiscal deficit target to 3.3 per cent, against 3 per cent earlier. The Finance Minister, not playing entirely by the book, is sure to upset bond markets. The yield on the 10-year G-Sec has inched up by 10 bps already.

The background

While the Centre more or less seems to have met its target for FY18 on the receipts front, it has overshot its expenditure target. From a budgeted growth of 6.5 per cent, expenditure is pegged to grow 10 per cent in FY18. The miss on the fiscal deficit target has been mainly on this count. Direct tax got a fillip from higher-than-expected growth in corporate tax. The shortfall in non-tax revenues on account of lower dividend payout by the RBI has been offset by robust disinvestment proceeds. For FY19, the Centre has assumed a similar 16.6 per cent growth in taxes, with direct tax taking a slight knock, but indirect taxes expected to grow at a much higher pace – from 9.9 per cent in FY18 to 19.2 per cent in FY19. This should more or less be achievable. On the non-tax and capital receipts front too, there doesn't seem anything amiss. While receipts from dividends are kept flat, disinvestment target has been kept reasonable. After achieving a whopping ₹1 lakh crore in FY18, it has set a lower ₹80,000 crore which given the Centre's plan to list 14 CPSEs, including two insurance companies, seem achievable. On the expenditure front, the Centre has again maintained a 10 per cent growth for FY19, positive for growth but weighing on fiscal deficit.

By factoring in a healthy expenditure target and a jump in indirect taxes, the Centre has kept very little wiggle room for slippage in FY19. The joker in the pack still is underlying growth, which could upset the fiscal deficit target. The Centre has assumed a higher 10 per cent growth in nominal GDP for FY18 (up from 9.5 per cent as per CSO's first advance estimates). It assumes a higher 11.5 per cent growth in FY19. While the higher government spending could drive growth, the targeted growth figure still looks ambitious. Gross market borrowing stands at ₹5.99 lakh crore in FY18, up from ₹5.8 lakh crore budgeted earlier. For FY19, this figure goes up marginally by 1 per cent to about ₹6.05 lakh crore. The net borrowing at ₹4.6 lakh crore however is up 3 per cent. All in all bond markets. Bond yields have already spiked by about 80 basis points in the past three months. With inflation inching up and fiscal slippages taking centre-stage, bond yields can remain within a narrow range with an upward bias.

Budget blends fiscal prudence with economic needs: Jaitley

Relief provided to senior citizens, salaried people and business, says Finance Minister

SURABHI

New Delhi, February 1

inance Minister Arun Jaitley on Thursday defended his Budget over criticism that it had not done enough for the middle class.

"In all my Budgets together, I have tried to put more money in the hands of the middle class," he said at his cuspost-Budget conference.

The Minister said the Budget has given relief to salaried taxpayers, senior citizens and businesses.

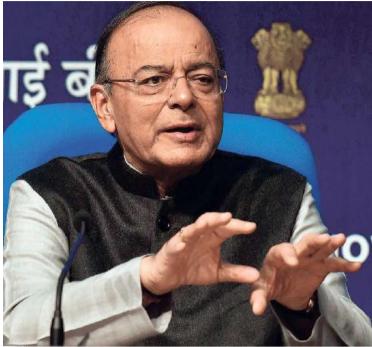

"We have recognised the contribution of 2.5 crore people and have reintroduced a standard deduction of ₹40,000 for all of them," he told

With increasing longevity, senior citizens have become an important part of the middle class, the Minister

The Budget has proposed a slew of measures to protect senior citizens from the falling interest rates, including higher exemptions on income from interest on bank and post office deposits, health insurance premium and critical illness expense.

The Finance Minister also said the proposal to lower the corporate tax to 25 per cent for companies with an annual turnover of up to ₹250 crore will also help the middle class.

"I have not forgotten businesses either. They are a strong part of the middle class," he said, adding the lower tax rate will also give them more investible surplus.

On the defensive Finance Minister Arun Jaitley addressing a press conference after presenting the Budget, in New Delhi, on Thursday KAMAL NARANG

Commenting on the main priorities of his Budget, the Minister said that "it blends fiscal prudence with the requirements and the needs of the economy today".

Support for sectors

Jaitley said that the main focus of spending in the Budget was sectors that required maximum support such as agriculture and rural areas and economically weaker sections.

While he has tried to maintain the fiscal deficit in previous years, he said that 2017-18 was proving to be an unusual year with different circumstances, which led to relaxation of the fiscal deficit targets.

In this regard, the additional resources raised from the long-term capital gains tax would be used to maintain the fiscal prudence and meet expenditure.

"Any gain in capital from February 1 is taxable. The rate is however, lower than the short term capital gains tax," he said.

The Budget has proposed a 10 per cent long-term capital gains tax on all such gains from February 1, 2018.

'Health scheme will get more once its contours are clear'

Provisional funding of ₹2,000 cr made for FY19, says Expenditure Secretary AN Jha

SURABHI

New Delhi, February 1

The Centre's new flagship health cover scheme, the National Health Protection Scheme, has been given a provisional allocation of ₹2,000 crore for 2018-19, but it will be increased later when the contours of the scheme are finalised.

"Further provision of funds will be done once the details of the scheme are worked out. We will see what type of a model it will be developed on – trust or insurance company," Expenditure Secretary AN Jha told reporters soon after the Budget was tabled in Parliament.

Finance Minister Arun Jaitley had announced the new scheme, which would cover over 10 crore poor and vulnerable families (approximately 50 crore bene- AN Jha, Expenditure ficiaries) providing an annual coverage up to ₹5 lakh per family for secondary and tertiary care hospitalisation.

"This will be the world's largest government funded health care programme. Adequate funds will be provided for smooth implementation of this programme," Jaitley had

Incidentally, the government in the last Budget had also announced a similar scheme with an allocation of ₹1 lakh per family. It never took off. The Finance Ministry also took pains to explain that the new scheme would be different from the health insurance plan of Rashtriya Swasthya Bima Yojana (RSBY), which was launched by the previous UPA government in 2008.

"RSBY gave a cover of only ₹30,000 and was for a limited group of people," Jha said, responding to a query, adding that the new scheme has a very large captive group and would function differently.

'Not an inflationary one'

The government also stressed that the Union Budget would not have an inflationary impact despite the increase in the minimum support price and higher cess. "There will be no serious impact on inflation from these measures," said Economic Affairs Secretary Subshash Chandra Garg.

Explaining the rationale to levy a ₹8 per litre road cess on petrol and diesel, Chief Economic Advisor to the Finance Ministry Arvind Subramanian said that it would help increase revenue gains to the Centre when oil prices increase. "State taxes on fuel also have an ad valorem component," he pointed Subramanian also said that the bond and equity markets have behaved maturely as the government has stuck to its commitment of "steadfast" fiscal consolidation despite relaxing the fiscal deficit targets. "This is a special year," he said.

The Economic Affairs Secretary noted that the target for three per cent fiscal deficit has not been shifted to 2020-21. "This is not far way. It is only three years away," he said.

Finance Secretary Hasmukh Adhia said the Centre is facing shortfall of ₹50,000 crore from the Goods and Services Tax (GST) in 2017-18.

How service tax became revenue lifeline for the Govt

Initially levied on three sectors, the tax was expanded to all services in 2012, before it was merged with the GST last year

AN IDEA THAT

RASHMI PRATAP

When Manmohan Singh introduced service tax at a meagre 5 per cent while presenting the 1994-95 Budget, little did he know that it would become one of the biggest sources of revenue for the government in the years to come. Levied only on three items then — telephones, non-life insurance and stockbrokers — the tax brought in ₹407 crore in the first year. And in FY17, the fiscal before it was merged with the Goods and Service Tax (GST), its collection stood at a whopping ₹2,47,500 crore. "From the Government's perspective, service tax not only worked well, but turned out to be a major source of revenue, bringing in one-third of the indirect tax collection. The success of any tax is not limited to the revenue it generates, but also the investment climate it creates. By and large, the services sector has witnessed a phenomenal growth in the last two decades, pointing to the success of this tax," says Anita Rastogi, Partner-Indirect Tax at PwC India.

Well taxed The introduction of service tax find its roots in recommendations of the Dr Raja Chelliah Committee on Tax Reforms, which called for the imposition of the tax to broaden the indirect tax base. And it served that purpose well. After economic liberalisation in 1991, a host of MNCs were setting up shop in India and taxing their services was a logical move at a time when services were bringing in 40 per cent of the country's

■ Who did it — Manmohan Singh

When — in 1994

Why — Services contributed 40 per cent to the GDP but were not taxed

Impact — From ₹407 crore in 1995 the service tax collection zoomed to ₹2.5 lakh crore in FY17

GDP. After 1994, the Government went on to add more services to the taxable list, including hospitality, transport, broadcasting, financial and real estate services. By the year 2016, the services sector was the major economy driver, clocking a growth of 66 per cent.

"With the growth in export of services, the sector also generated foreign income. The last few years have also witnessed a phenomenal growth of digital and e-commerce related services. This move of the Government turned out to be extremely rewarding as the focus of the Indian economy became more service oriented in the decades to come," says Rashmi Deshpande, Associate Partner at law firm Khaitan & Co. Aditi Nayar, Principal Economist at

ICRA, points out that service tax was one of the fastest growing components of the Government's major tax revenues in FY08, displaying a robust CAGR of over 19 per cent between FY08 and FY17. "This partly benefited from the expansion of the list of taxable services," she

While 116 services were being taxed up to 2011, all services were taxed post 2012 with the introduction of negative list (of services which were not taxable). The Budget 2016 imposed Krishi Kalyan Cess on all taxable services at 0.5 per cent, which put the effective service tax rate at 15 per cent.

One with GST However, last year, with the introduction of GST, service tax lost its identity and merged with the mega tax. "It was a good idea to bring services into the ambit of GST. That is very much in line with international practice of considering goods and services as one for the purpose of taxation," says Crisil Chief Economist Dharmakirti Joshi.

Deshpande points out that the biggest advantage of merging the two was the availability of credit, which was restricted in the VAT and service tax regime. "Moreover, in many sectors, the problem of identification of a particular transaction whether amounting to 'goods' or 'services' led to a plethora of litigation, which seemed to have resolved to some extent," she says. According to Rastogi, today's taxpayers have expanded their horizons and the same asseesee supplies both goods and services. "So by putting him onto multiple administration, even in GST, would not have served any purpose. Services did not warrant exclusion from GST and has been rightly merged with other taxes," she adds.

BUDGET 2014-15

BOOST FOR MSMES Daksha Baxi

Getting funds for small units

The government has recognised that demonetisation has negatively impacted the Micro, Small & Medium Enterprises significantly Added to this is the need for them to comply with Goods & Services Tax.A large number of MSMEs deal with large corporations and that necessarily needs them to be registered under GST. While the GST Council has attempted and continues to work on easing compliances, the fact remains that they need easy access to working capital requirements.

It has been recognised that this sector can create significant job opportunities and hence the cash flow challenges faced by this sector need to be addressed. Towards this objective, the Finance Minister has taken a dual approach for MSMEs. First one is in terms of the ease of financing and the second is by way of tax concession.

He has proposed that the public-sector banks and corporates will be on-boarded on Trade Electronic Receivable Discounting System (TReDS) platform and link this with GSTN. This will enable the MSMEs to get faster relief for GST input credits and unblock their funds.

He has also proposed to revamp the online loan sanctioning facility for MSMEs so the banks are able to take prompt decision to release funding. It is also proposed to set a target of ₹3 lakh crore for lending under MUDRA yojana, which will also benefit the MMSMEs. It is recognised that NBFCs can be powerful vehicle for delivering loans under MUDRA. The government will review the refinancing and eligibility criteria set by MUDRA for better refinancing of NBFCs to assist in dissipation of loans to MSMEs.

Alternative funds

Recognising that venture capital funds and angel investors also help in the growth of MSME sector, he has promised to further assist the alternative investment funds regime to strengthen the environment for their growth and successful operation in India. The industry body representing this industry has already made several proposals to the Finance Ministry and it can be hoped and expected that their recommendation will get addressed to achieve the objectives set by the Finance Minister.

On the tax side, the Finance Minister has extended the reduced 25 per cent tax rate to companies with turnover not exceeding ₹250 crore. The jump for this lower tax rate from a threshold of ₹50 crore to ₹250 crore is significant and will benefit almost all the MSMEs. It would help them more if they were to be exempt from tne levy of minimum alternate tax. MSMEs engaged in the manufacture of apparel and footwear and leather products would get a deduction of 30 per cent of additional employee cost incurred. The minimum number of days the employee has to be employed has been reduced to claim such benefit.

Jaitley's 'vetaal' problem: the fiscal deficit

DEFICIT TRENDS

With global crude oil prices firming up, the Finance Minister has his task cut out

RICHA MISHRA/KR SRIVATS

confident Arun Jaitley, when presenting the last full Budget of this government, said that things have only improved for the economy since

July 2014. But, has the situation improved? Pointing at the growth levels, Jaitley said as against GDP growth of less than 5 per cent in the last two years of UPA-II regime, India has recorded an average 6.5 per cent growth in the first three years of this government.

Inflation certainly is no longer in the double digit levels as it was during the UPA-II regime. Exports have also looked up since the tepid levels in

Of course, critics will be quick to point out that Jaitley rode the benefits of softening global crude oil prices trend, not passing the benefits lower prices to the consumers. However, the era of oil derived gains are coming to an end with global crude oil prices ruling firm in recent weeks.

In fact, even the Finance Minister does not want to take a bet on it and said that it is beyond the comfort

 $The \, price \, at \, which \, India \, refiners \, are \,$ buying their crude on January 30 stood at $66.86 a barrel. From the second half of 2014-15 Jaitley had enjoyed the advantage of low oil prices, with average price for the full fiscal 2015-16 hitting $46.14 a barrel and in 2016-17 $47.56 a barrel.

In 2017-18 from April 2017 till January 30 the average was at $55.01 a bar-

The after effects of rising crude oil prices, GST, and demonetisation, coupled with the banking reforms have restrained Jaitley's spending powers and also made him revise his fiscal deficit target. Financial inclusion got the maximum emphasis in the first two years through the Jan Dhan Yojana, enabling large section of India to get banking accounts.

Between April and December 2017,

2008-05 2009-07 2018-11 2013-12 2012-13 2013-14 2014-15 2015-16 2016-17 0617-08 0617-18 0618-19

the Centre's fiscal deficit exceeded the Budget Estimate by 13.6 per cent to amount to ₹6,20,949 crore.

Data released on Thursday showed that the revenue deficit too had overshot the full year target by 39.5 per cent to ₹4,48,737 crore in the period under review.

"Our government assumed office in May 2014 when the fiscal deficit was running at very high levels. Fiscal deficit for 2013-14 was 4.4 per cent of GDP. The Prime Minister and the government have always attached utmost priority to prudent fiscal management and controlling fiscal deficit... we embarked on the path of consistent fiscal reduction and consolidation in 2014," Jaitley said in his speech.

"The fiscal deficit was brought down to 4.1 per cent in 2014-15 to 3.9 per cent in 2015-16, and to 3.5 per cent in 2016-17," he said. But, for 2017-18 the Finance Minister has found himself revising the estimates to 3.5 per cent of GDP from the earlier target of 3.2 per cent. Even for 2018-19 the Jaitley has taken a target of 3.3 per cent lower than earlier target of 3 per cent.

The Finance Minister also acknow ledged that in 2017-18, the Centre will be receiving GST revenues only for 11 months, instead of 12 months.

"This will have a fiscal effect. There has also been some shortfall in nontax revenues on account of certain developments, including deferment of spectrum auction," he said.

This led to critics to question the timing of demonetisation and GST roll out. Some also felt that with delay in implementation of some of the key reforms, the Finance Minister has lost the opportunity of turning soft oil prices to his advantage.

PSU stake-sales to foot the bill for farm, social sector spends

Budget targets ₹80,000 crore from disinvestment in 2018-19

SURABHI

New Delhi, February 1 With higher expenditure plans for sectors including agriculture, health and education, the Centre will continue to depend heavily on revenue from stake sales in public sector units.

Accordingly, the Budget has targeted raising ₹80,000 crore as disinvestment proceeds next Though this is a tad lower than the revised estimate of ₹1 lakh crore from stake sales in 2017-18, it still amounts to the second highest target from PSU stake sales.

The Budget Estimate for dis investment proceeds in 2017-18 was ₹72,500 crore.

Finance Minister Arun Jaitley also unveiled big ticket plans for stake sales in the next fiscal, including privatisation of state-owned Air India and merger and listing of three general insurance PSUs.

"Three public sector general insurance companies National Insurance Company Ltd, United India Assurance Company Ltd and Oriental India Insurance Company Ltd will be merged into a single insurance entity and will be subsequently listed," he said.

The Department of Investment and Public Asset Management (DIPAM) will also announce more exchange traded funds (ETF) in 2018-19, including a debt ETF.

Jaitley also announced that the Centre has approved listing of 14 PSUs, including two insurance companies, on the stock exchanges.

"The government has also initiated the process of strategic disinvestment in 24 CPSEs, including strategic privatisation of Air India," he

These would in effect be the first strategic stake sales by the NDA government in its current term, although it has been working on a blueprint for privatisation of PSUs.

Chief Economic Advisor to the Finance Ministry Arvind Subramanian had also listed privatisation of Air India as one of the key agenda for the g ernment in the last year of its term in 2018-19.

Apart from the merger of state-owned ONGC and HPCL that yielded over ₹36,000 crore in this fiscal, analysts pointed out that a large part of the success of the Centre's disinvestment programme was due to the equity markets doing well and it would have to be seen whether it can be sustained.

Anis Chakravarty, Partner and Lead Economist, Deloitte India, said, "The disinvestment story is clearly a positive and there could be a positive surprise for the next year if the broader market sentiment holds positive."

Seeing export traction, Budget hikes provision for some schemes

New Delhi, February 1 Estimating a robust rise of 15 per cent in goods exports in 2017-18 - which could increase outbound shipments to an all time high of $316 billion - Finance Minister Arun Jaitley has increased allocations under the interest equalisation scheme (IES) and remission of state levies (ROSL) for exporters.

While there are no announcements directly benefiting a specific sector, exporters are positive about the higher allocations for IES and ROSL in Budget 2018-19 and are hopeful that more members of the community would benefit from the schemes as the rate of comremains changed. "The increased allocation from ₹1,100 crore to ₹2,000 crore for the IES for the current year and ₹2,500 crore for 2018-19 would help the export sector as it gives cushion to include merchant exporters and services exporters," said Ganesh Kumar Gupta, President, FIEO.

Under the IES, exporters are provided bank loans at lower interest rates with the Centre compensating the banks for the difference in

More allocation

Similarly, enhanced allocation for ROSL, which compensates exporters for State levies, from ₹1,555 crore to ₹1,855 crore for the current fiscal and ₹2,164 crore for the subsequent fiscal will not only help in clearing the backlog but could also be used to extend the benefit to carpets, handicrafts and fabrics and yarn exports, Gupta added. The imposition of 20 per cent export duty on graphite electrode has made engineering goods exporters unhappy.

"It is not clear why 20 per cent export duty has been levied on graphite electrode. This is contrary to the policy of the government to give an impetus to exports. The emphasis should be on removal of inverted duty structure on the import side wherein the priority should be to have more duty on finished products while raw material should be subjected to the lowest duty structure," said Ravi Sehgal, Chairman, EEPC.

The extension of fixed term employment facility for all sectors is also expected to benefit exporters. "It will allow exporters to provide additional jobs as and when they get export orders particularly in sectors where the demand is seasonal in nature," Gupta said.

At the projected growth rate of 15 per cent, exports in 2017-18 would increase to $316.85 billion which is higher than the previous high of $314 billion in 2013-14.

Last year, exports had increased by 5.17 per cent to $275.85 billion after two successive years of fall in outbound shipments.

BOOST FOR RESEARCH

A booster dose for science and tech

TV JAYAN

Science and technology received a shot in the arm with Finance Minister Arun Jaitley increasing the outlay for research and development in the country by 7.5 per cent in Union Budget 2018-19.

The funds for agricultural, earth sciences and space research particularly saw an impressive double digit growth, pointing towards priorities set by the NDA government in its final Budget before the Lok Sabha polls next year. Major science research agencies, including those in strategic areas, have been promised a total of ₹65,741 crore, which is 7.5 per cent more than the revised budgetary allocation of ₹61,192 crore in 2017-18. While the Department of Atomic Energy was once again cornered the highest outlay of ₹21,518 crore, it included allocation for Nuclear Power Corporation India Ltd which manages several nuclear power plants across the country.

The Department of Space, on the other hand, witnessed the highest growth in allocation with its outlay going up by 17.7 per cent to ₹10,783

The government's priority for the farm sector is also reflected in higher allocation for the Department of Agriculture Research and Education (DARE). The outlay for DARE went up 11.6 per cent to ₹7,800 crore as compared with ₹6,992 crore in the previous fiscal.

There is a proposed 12.5 per cent hike in the budgetary allocation of the Ministry of Earth Sciences, which recently received a nod for extension of its National Monsoon Mission.

Agencies supporting basic science research too were favourably considered with the Department of Science and Technology (DST) getting an 8.2-percent in budgetary outlay to ₹5,135 crore.

The DST would set aside ₹900 crore for supporting extramural research projects through Science Engineering Research Board and another ₹720 crore for supporting innovation and technology development and deployment. The funds would also support 90 research projects in yoga and meditation. The DST was allotted funds to create a new mission on cyber physical systems which would focus on research, training and skilling in robotics, artificial intelligence, digital manufacturing, big data analysis, quantum

Rashesh Shah FICCI President

Why is defence spending not booming?

Despite 7.8% rise in allocation, spending as percentage of GDP slumps; this is the lowest since 1962

he defence spending has touched a low at 1.62 per cent of the planned GDP growth in 2018-19 even as the budgetary allocation for the sector was increased by 7.81 per cent at ₹2,95,511.41 crore from ₹2,74,114.12 crore in 2017-18.

"A number of initiatives have been taken to develop and nurture intrinsic defence production capability to make the nation self-reliant for meeting our defence needs. Ensuring adequate budgetary support will be our priority," said Finance Minister Arun Jaitley while presenting the Budget for 2018-19. A close look at the allocation reveals that this is the lowest ever drop in defence expenditure as a percentage of the GDP since 1962 when India was at war with China.

India's defence spending as a percentage of GDP has been declining steadily since 2013-14. Both China and Pakistan spend over 2 per cent of their GDP on defence.

Experts point out that allocations by the government remain frugal even at a time when the country is facing threats to its security not just from the borders with Pakistan and China, but also from challenges in the Indian Ocean Region.

Just last year the country was engaged in a bitter military face-off with China over Doklam region near the India-China-Bhutan tri-junction area for almost 73 days. And according to reports, China continues to remain actively present in the region.

"Transformation in defence production requires higher allocation. If the government is keen on promoting 'Make in India' in defence production then there has to be a proper infrastructure creation for that and that requires huge money. When you are operating under a low budget then all your mega acquisition plans become severely constrained," said Vikram Mahajan, Director (Defence and Aeropsace), US-India Strategic Partnership Forum (USISPF).

Out of the total allocation of ₹2,95,511.41 crore, only ₹99,563.86 crore has been set aside for modernisation of the forces and new defence purchases, while the remaining ₹1,95,947.55 crore has been allocated for revenue expenditure. In other words, bulk of the allocation is for the daily running expenses of the armed forces. "Focus continues to remain on addressing existing revenue expenditure requirements rather than allocation of capital for acquisition of new equipment. The modernisation process seems to have taken a backseat this year," said Kabir Bogra, Partner, Khaitan & Co.

Military strategists feel that the Indian Army is in a "sorry state" as it continues to use old armaments. It is in dire need of modern guns and am munitions, combat vehicles and battle tanks. It has also been waiting for a future infantry combat vehicle for over 10 years now.

The Air Force is seeing a depleting squadron and is in urgent need of the latest fighter jets. The Navy is keen on new warships and nuclear submarines. According to Defence Ministry sources, defence projects worth around billions of dollars are simply not moving due to paucity of funds.

Meanwhile, the Finance Minister made a strong push on private sector participation to develop defence production and manufacturing in the

He said the government will soon be coming out with a "friendly" Defence Production Policy 2018 that will seek to promote domestic production by public sector, private sector and MSMEs. He also announced the creation of two defence industrial production corridors in the country.

"We have opened up private investment in defence production including liberalising foreign direct investment. We will take measures to develop two defence industrial production corridors in the country. The government will also bring out an industry-friendly Defence Production Policy 2018 to promote domestic production by public sector, private sector and MSMEs," he said. However, the industry is still waiting for the government's blue print on the way forward to promote these corridors and attract private sector investments.

Puneet Kaura, Managing Director & CEO, Samtel Avionics Ltd, said, "What remains to be seen is how much sops or tax benefits these industrial corridors bring to the private industry, and contribute to ease of doing business." Earlier this month, Defence Minister Nirmala Sitharaman had asked the Tamil Nadu State Government to work on a defence corridor connecting Kattupalli port, Chennai, Trichy, Coimbatore, Hosur and Bengaluru.

Ganesh Raj, defence and aerospace expert with EY India, feels that the new defence production policy has the potential to turn around India's defence manufacturing industry just as in the case of the auto sector. He said it will also give opportunity to the MSMEs to take part in defence production.

The Voluntary Disclosure of Income Scheme

The scheme was seen as a success, but the CAG and the apex court frowned upon it

PRIYANKA PANI

Flushing out black money from the system has been the top priority of successive governments. But it was the Voluntary Disclosure of Income Scheme (VDIS) introduced by then Finance Minister P Chidambaram in 1997 that laid the foundation to many subsequent schemes. Under the scheme, any person hoarding undisclosed assets

(gold, cash and real-estate) could disclose these assets, pay a tax of 30 per cent and escape any penalty. The scheme, in which a defaulter was not required to disclose the source or tenure of assets, turned out to be a huge success as corporates and individual hoarders were able to legalise their black income by paying a mere 35 and 30 per cent tax respectively.

"It was indeed a huge success that year (1997-98). Almost over ₹10,000 crore was collected through VDIS which was far more than what was recovered in the past," said HP Ranina, Corporate Tax Lawyer at the Supreme Court of India

According to data provided by Grant Thornton Advisory Private Ltd, over 350,000 people disclosed their income and assets under this scheme, which brought a revenue of ₹7,800 crore ($1.2 billion) to the Finance Ministry in just six months. The scheme was closed on 31 December 1997.

Riaz Thingna, Director, Grant Thorton Advisory Private Ltd, told BusinessLine that, "The VDIS was a very unconventional but successful step among Indian economic policies." He further added that the reason why it became so popular was that it gave an opportunity to the income or wealth tax defaulters to disclose their undisclosed income at the prevailing tax rates and also ensured that the laws relating to economic offences would not be applicable for those defaulters.

However, the Comptroller and Audit General of India condemned the scheme as a fraud on genuine and honest tax payers. Following this, the Supreme Court of India observed that such schemes should be future by avoided in government.

According to tax experts, amnesty schemes are deterrent to the economy and also is prejudiced against the honest tax payers.

"The 70 per cent tax on disclosures has seen a very limited success as offenders would not want to lose all the assets," Thingna said adding that this was also a major reason why the government came up with the idea of demonetisation followed by incometax notices and raids.

"The intention is more likely to regulate the circulation to avoid its usage for illegal transactions. In addition, the government has recognised the viability of block chain technology that powers cryptocurrency.

"Efforts should be made to bring in regulations at the earliest to achieve this aim," said Rashmi Deshpande, Associate Partner, Khaitan and Co.

Indian players such a Zebpay and Unocoin did not issue any cautionary statements in this regard to their customers. In fact, the trading activity was as usual on the platforms.

Goyal gets the green signal to go full steam ahead

The Railways gets the highest allocation ever

OUR BUREAU

New Delhi, February 1 With a fresh focus on new infrastructure and the highest ever allocation for the railways and road sector, Finance Minister Arun Jaitley announced a capital expenditure of ₹1.48 crore for the railways in the Budget.

He said by next year people can use modern train-sets being developed at the Integral Coach Factory and the Railways will be transformed into an affordable, green mode of transport. The Railways will cross a total revenue of ₹2,00,840 crore this year, as per the revised estimates. In FY 2019, Railways has a ₹1,48,528-crore plan, reflecting a threefold increase in Railway Minister Piyush Goyal said at a Rail Bhavan conference. The Plan size for fiscal 2019 is higher than the revised Plan of ₹1,20,000 crore for the present fiscal.

Plan size against FY14,

The government has proposed a budgetary support of ₹53,000 crore for fiscal 2018-19. There is also a drop in the budgetary support to the railways for the fiscal 2017-18 with the support being slashed by over a third to ₹40,000 crore against the budgetary estimate, and even ₹5000 crore lower than the previous year.

Market borrowings

There has been an increase in the market borrowing target — to ₹54,900 crore. This includes institutional finance of about ₹26,400 crore, to be used for project finance; and ₹28,500 crore for procuring rolling stock.

There are no indications on fares and freight tariffs in this Budget, as the Railways now changes tariffs through the year. A decision on dynamic fares will be taken soon, the Minister said.

Agencies add: Dedicated freight corridors are planned and electrification being taken up as a priority task for which Indian Railways is expected to explore other avenues to raise funds, the Finance Minister said.

WiFi and CCTVs will be progressively provided in all trains and there will be escalators at stations with a 25,000-plus footfall.

A significant portion of this allocation will be used to enhance the carrying capacity of the Railways.

This Railway Budget has emphasised the maintenance of track infrastructure and renewal of over 3,600 kilometres of tracks this year. It expects to take up 600 major railway stations for redevelopment. In a major push to Mumbai's transportation, ₹11,000 crore has been allotted to expand the city's rail network. In addition, development of 150 km of suburban network has been planned, at a cost of ₹40,000 crore.

Coal constitutes a significant portion of freight revenue, with a 42 per cent share, followed by iron ore and cement. In terms of revenue from passengers, the Budget has not announced any fare hikes but it did reduce the fare for premium class in the last year so as to compete with airlines and luxury buses.

Its operating ratio, the ratio of working expenditure to revenue, has been revised for FY-18 to 96 per cent, against the projected 94.6 per cent in the earlier Budget. This implies that to generate ₹100 of revenue, it has spent ₹96.

In the case of listed wagon manufacturing companies, while Titagarh Wagons has registered a decent return of about 38 per cent in the last year, Texmaco Rail and Engineering has shown a lacklustre performance. BEML, ABB and the other wagon companies will benefit from increased allocation to the railways and the government's thrust to improved rail infrastructure.

The Government's focus on strengthening rail safety may benefit Kernex Microsystems and Siemens, which supply signalling and telecommunication equipment to the railways. While Kernex gained by about 40 per cent, Siemens moved up about 15 per cent over the last year.

Little relief for telecom players

With the need for data growing, the telecom sector is being put on a high-speed track to meet the growing data demand. There is specific focus on rural India. The Centre has increased its allocation to BharatNet to ₹8,175 crore for FY19 from ₹5,710 crore last year. BharatNet is an initiative to increase broadband penetration in rural India. Optical fibre cables (OFC) have been laid in over 1.6 lakh gram panchayats, and phase-I of the project, connecting one lakh gram panchayat, is completed. The project envisions providing reliable and high-quality internet connectivity in 2.5 lakh gram panchayats by the end

BharatNet will be one of the biggest 'Make in India' initiatives. Cable laying companies and cable network companies such as Paramount, Sterlite Technologies and Tejas Networks will benefit from this project. Telecom companies such as BSNL could also help in providing the infrastructure facilities. The Centre proposes to set up five lakh Wi-Fi hotspots that will provide access to internet to five crore rural Indians. Also, the Centre has plans to launch a 'DigiGaon' initiative to provide telemedicine, education and skills through

The Background Internet penetration in India is still low compared to global standards, though the entry of Reliance Jio in September 2016 has resulted in a surge in data consumption. In order to bridge the gap and provide internet to all, BharatNet was launched in 2012. Bharat Broadband Network Ltd (BBNL) manages the operation of BharatNet and provides broadband connectivity of 2 Mbps to 20 Mbps for all household and institutions in partnership with States and private players.

With the Centre's move to increase broadband connectivity and telecom players' active participation to increase subscriber base in rural areas, the digital divide would be reduced at a faster rate. But with no new reforms, declining average revenue per user, mass consolidation of the industry, high debt levels, there is little relief to the stressed telecom sector. Players such as Airtel and RJio have fortified their spectrum holdings. The Centre would have difficulty in raising funds through auction, given that spectrum bands that were recently acquired are set to expire after 10-15 years. The Budget has not met the financial needs of the industry reducing the spectrum usage charge,

Ever since Prime Minister Narendra Modi launched the Digital India mission in 2015, successive Budgets have given lot of weightage and resources to projects under this mission. This year too the Finance Minister has announced a plethora of proposals including doubling the total allocation to ₹3,073 crore, additional ₹10,000 crore for the pan-India broadband network — BharatNet and establishment of 5 lakh Wi-Fi

There are a number of takeaways from the Budget. First, the NITI Aayog effort to institutionalise research and development in artificial intelligence reinforces the value that machine learning can bring to issues of national importance. If synergised with the work being done by the academia and industry, we can expect fast emerging use cases that can democratize AI in

Blockchain application

Second, exploring the application of blockchain in governance is a strong indicator of the government's intent to improve citizen services without compromising on security, especially as Aadhaar gets linked to citizen accounts. And finally, the DoT's establishment of an indigenous 5G centre is an encouraging sign of the government's view of collaboration with the broader technology ecosystem as the best strategy to accelerate the rollout of 5G infrastructure in

Benoy CS, Director, Digital Transformation (ICT) Practice, Frost & Sullivan said, "Government's plan to set up a Centre of Excellence to accelerate the adoption of new age technologies like Artificial Intelligence, machine learning and IoT will help in modernisation and automation of several industrial applications in the country, which in turn will help Indian companies in improving productivity and effectively compete at global scale." Industry experts, however, said the focus should be now on execution of projects. The broadband network under Bharat Net, for example, has been delayed due to procedural issues. The Centre also needs to move faster on formulating laws for privacy and digital data protection. "It is encouraging to see the government's focus on promoting development and use of the cutting edge technologies which will not only impact the economy but facilitate everyday life for its citizens. At the same a faster pace need to be made to introduce or amend the laws to regulate the usage of these technologies. With this we expect the passage of Data Privacy Bill soon," said Anand Bhushan, Partner, Shardul Amarchand Mangaldas - a leading law firm in India.

While at an overall level, Budget provides some indirect boost for growth of technology industry, it once again turned a blind eye to the challenging state of telecom industry in the country.

The operators have been under a financial crisis and were hoping to get some relief.

"For realising the Prime Minister's vision of a fully connected and empowered Digital India, we reiterate that the telecom industry is deeply disappointed that none of our key asks have found mention in the Budget," said Rajan Mathews, Director General, Cellular Operators Association of India.

Start-up tax holiday may not have any fruitful impact

OUR BUREAU

The Modi government that has been talking startups in a big way for almost last four years gave negligible importance to the segment in the Budget.

There was just one mention of the term start-up in the entire speech read by the Finance Minister and that too was used only as an indirect reference.

However, the Finance Minister did offer extension of existing tax sops to start-ups for additional two years, which came as a respite for some.

As per the previous provisions, start-ups i ated on or after April 1, 2016 but before April 1, 2019, could enjoy tax breaks for three consecutive assessment years out of the seven years at the option of the start-up. However, the start-up needs to have revenues of less than ₹25 crore a year.

The same benefits will now be extended to startups incorporated from April 1, 2019 to April 1, 2021, which means newer start-ups will also be able to take advantage of the scheme. "There is also positive news for start-up ecosystem as the benefit of deduction u/s 80-IAC is extended to start-ups incorporated even after April 1, 2019 but before April 1, 2021," Mitesh Shah, Head of Finance, BookMyShow said.

"It wasn't a big benefit in the first place as it is applicable to start-ups with less than ₹25 crore benefit. Young start-ups with under ₹25 crore of revenue are rarely profitable and thus the scheme does not have much impact," said Harish HV, Partner - India Leadership team at Grant Thornton India.

Govt pegs ₹48,661 crore revenue from stressed operators

S RONENDRA SINGH New Delhi, February 1

Unhappy is the telecom sector with the Finance Minister Arun Jaitley's Budget. Feeling left out they said the Budget 2018-19 did not have much for the telecom sector, and the government also did not make much target revenue as it expected from spectrum auctions in the last year's Budget.

It has pegged 58 per cent increase in revenue at ₹48,661.42 crore from the stressed telecom sector in 2018-19 against the revised revenue estimate of ₹30,736.47 crore for the current

The government had made a provision of ₹44,342.2 crore revenue from telecom services in 2017-18, through licence fee and spectrum usage charges, from telecom operators.

It was quite higher in the previous year because the government expected much from spectrum auctions, and according to analysts and industry experts, the spectrum auctions that give higher revenues to the gov-

There were no auctions last year and the auctions in 2018-19 will depend on Telecom Regulatory of Authority recommendations. The Department of Telecom has sought for views from TRAI on spectrum pricing and timing for the auction.

According to the Cellular Operators Association of India (COAI), the Finance Minister Arun Jaitley had no mention about the telecom sector, which is the backbone digital highway.

"While, the FM has emphasised the importance of moving to a digital economy, the actual digital highway, which is telecom has found no mention in terms of substantive support, unlike road, railway, highways, electricity, which have received substantial mention. We are saddened to see that telecom which is the bedrock for moving the Digital economy forward, continues to remain an Orphan," Rajan S Mathews, Director General, COAI, said.

He said the sector had sought a reduction in levies and taxes, and an urgent intervention is critical for resuscitating the sector, which is currently experiencing its worst financial health and hyper competition.

"We reiterate our four key asks, reduction extremely high and unsustainable levies and taxes, reduction in

The Telecom Secretary was hinting on the proposals that the FM has announced for the BharatNet project, for which there is a sanction of another ₹10,000 crore in 2018-19. in the last vear's Budget also, Jaitley had sanctioned ₹10.000 crore out of which ₹7,000 has been utilised till now, Sundararajan said.

Time to get future-ready

VENKATESH GANESH Bengaluru, February 1

The Centre's focus on newgen tech such as machine learning, robotics, Artificial Intelligence, digital manufacturing, IoT and analytics, to reskill, shows the government's efforts to make India future ready but would need increased support from the private sector.

Three years after it laid out the blue print for Digital India, the government has decided to double the allocation on one of the Prime Minister's pet projects. The latest proposal to invest ₹3,073 crore in research, training and skilling in the above mentioned areas comes at a time when society as a whole is transforming into a digital economy, led by the influx of technology in daily lives.

While on the one hand, it has opened new vistas for job creation, on the other hand it is making large swathes of India's 4 million IT workforce redundant. It is in this context that the government's efforts can be lauded as it creates a chain reaction amongst stakeholders. "When the focus comes from the authorities, it gives confidence to the industry and they would be open to participate in these initiatives," Kris Gopalakrishnan, cofounder Infosys told Business-Line. Unlike the West, which has strong Research & Development facilities, backed by capital and industry-academia partnerships, India is still putting in place strong systems that can build on the $155-billion IT industry and fuel more job creation. However, the move to embrace modern technologies has evoked mixed reactions amongst technolgy titans. Entrepreneurs like Elon Musk have openly said that artificial intelligence should be used in conjunction with humans and have questioned whether giants like Facebook know what they are doing. The general concern seem to be around job losses as machines develop the ability to learn themselves and make some jobs redundant, especially in countries like India which has a large informal economy, where millions of people are not equipped to adapt to changing work requirements.

"We cannot afford to not embrace modern technologies with a fear that they will take away jobs but instead need to maintain a balance.' said Kamal Bali, chairman, CII Karnataka and MD, Volvo India.

While one pathway gets closed, industry watchers say automation opens the door for new job opportunities. "It can directly impact the lives of farmers, enhance industrial output and it has metamorphosised from science to politics," said Ashu Sinha, MD, Asia Pacific, RobonomicsAI.

Not much to bank on

Clear roadmap on banking reforms, tax concessions on bad loan provisioning and digital transactions figured on the top of the sector's wish-list. But all the Budget had to offer was some clarification on the tax front to ensure smoother resolution of stressed assets under IBC. As has been the case every year, the Centre has once again increased the agriculture lending target to ₹11 lakh crore from the record level of ₹10 lakh crore in the previous Budget. Exemption of interest income on deposits with banks and post offices from ₹10,000 to ₹50,000 for senior citizens should augur well for banks, as it would prevent flow of deposits outside the system into other financial instruments. But given that senior citizens mostly prefer bank deposits, this seems unlikely to have a very big impact.

concessions on bad loan provisioning for a while. There was heightened expectation of it being granted in this Budget, given the elevated provisioning requirement for cases referred to the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) under the IBC. But the Budget did not pay heed to banks' request this time around, too. It did, however, offer some more clarity on the MAT provisions on notional profit arising out of debt waiver under the IBC.

As per the circular issued by the Central Board of Direct Taxes (CBDT) recently, companies under the IBC will be allowed to set off loss brought forward, including unabsorbed depreciation from the book profit for the purpose of levy of MAT under Section 115JB of the Income Tax Act. The legislative amendment enabling these changes has been brought in the Budget as expected.

Also, according to current tax regulations, benefit of setting off carry forward losses can be given only if the shareholding does not change (by more than 49 per cent). In the Budget it has been clarified that such restrictions will not apply in case of change of shareholding with regard to a resolution plan under IBC.

Given that the Centre had already announced its mega bank recap plan of ₹2.1 lakh crore sometime back, expectations ran high on a clear roadmap to jump-start banking reforms in the sector, which the Budget has failed to address.

Also while the Budget has clarified on certain tax provisions with respect to IBC cases, it does not entirely address banks' issues. MAT tweak, for instance, still does not satisfy the demand from the industry of full waiver of such notional gain irrespective of brought-forward losses. Also the removal of restrictions in case of change of shareholding under IBC is also provided an opportunity of being heard, which has been given to the Principal Commissioner or Commissioner. This leads to a lot of ambiguity regarding cases already approved under NCLT.

Net on net there will be no significant impact on banking stocks from the Budget in the nearto medium-term. Given that PSU banks continue to be weighed down by bad loan provisioning, no tax relief on this count is marginally negative for them.

Missing in action: Banking reforms

■ Budget fails to grant more autonomy to boards ■ no roadmap for consolidation ■ silent on disinvestments

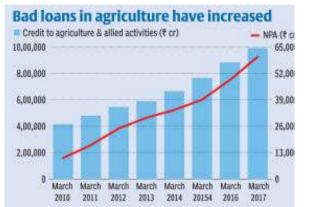

The difficult gets done at once; the impossible takes a little longer. This is the sort of can-do attitude that everyone - industry, the regulator and the Centre - has been expecting from banks, despite the plethora of challenges they have been up against. In the last three to four years, a prolonged slowdown has impacted the investment cycle and taken its toll on bank lending. The staggering pace at which bad loans have been increasing - clearly a result of excessive lending in the past - has worsened the Bank credit, which grew at 2.5 to 3 times the real GDP growth, has slipped to 1-1.5 times in the past four years. The gross non-performing assets as a per cent of loans have only increased from 9.6 per cent to 10.2 per cent between March and September 2017. Hence, nothing much changed for the banking sector in the past year since the last Budget.

There has, however, been one silver lining to count. The Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC) is a giant leap forward from the earlier regimes, seeking quicker and more efficient resolution of stressed assets. But the large number of accounts under IBC have also led to elevated provisioning, further weakening the capital positioning of PSBs in particular.

Against this backdrop, the sector's expectations from the Centre this year were not difficult to hard-guess sizeable capital infusion and tax concessions on bad loan provisioning. What next?

But there are several weak links to the sizeable flow of credit to agriculture.

For one, the government's interest subvention for short-term crop loans, hasn't helped in prompt repayment. On the contrary, NPAs in agriculture loans have been rising sharply over

From about 2.5 per cent some five years back, it is now a little over 5 per cent. The amount of NPAs have continued to rise - from around ₹10,500 crore in 2009-10 to ₹60,200 crore in 2016-17.

Bankers say that most of the farmers have become overleveraged over a period of time due to restructuring and doling out of additional funding. Hence, just as in corporate accounts, here too, the debt has to be split into sustainable and non-sustainable portions. As a one-time exercise, the unsustainable portion has to be written off, say industry players.

Notwithstanding this, the Centre has been doling out subsidy for such loans. In fact, the subsidy payout under the interest subvention scheme has gone up over nine times since 2009-10. This year, the allocation has been set at ₹15,000 crore.

Will Finance Minister's proposals be a boon to rural India?

PRIYANKA PANI

For Rekha Rajendra Yadav, a daily wage farm labourer in Koregaon village in Maharastra's Satara district, this year's Budget holds a lot of promise. The 30-year-old, who had recently opened a savings account with Fino Payments Bank, will now be able to deposit more into her account, thanks to the measures taken by the government to boost the rural economy. Finance The Minister, in his speech while addressing the issues in the rural sector, has taken measures to help distressed farmers, boost consumption and financial inclusion aimed at improving growth, jobs and private investment.

For villagers such as Rekha, more money with her means more savings. "I try to save about ₹1,000-1,500 in my bank every month out of my monthly earnings of ₹5,000. If the government works on creating more jobs in rural areas, then we would be able to save more for our future," Rekha told BusinessLine.

Another woman, Chhaya Karat, works for about 10-12 hours a day to earn about ₹300. She wants to buy a smartphone but hasn't been able to save enough. With the boost in rural economy, hopefully, Karat can go for a loan from a bank, which is ready to lend at her door-step. Not many banks focus on providing small personal and structured loans to rural customers, but a boost in economy will improve the lending book of the banks, especially the new-age ones, say experts.

However, the measures by the government, if implemented properly, would not only help in improving the income levels in rural India but also boost rural banking.

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, February 1

Finance Minister Arun Jaitley today presented his fifth straight Budget in the Lok Sabha with a speech that lasted almost two hours.

He was greeted by Prime Minister Narendra Modi soon after he completed his speech which went on for one hour and 50 minutes.

Pat from Modi

The Prime Minister was often seen vigorously thumping the desk, prompting his Cabinet colleagues and NDA MPs to follow suit. Modi also kept encouraging his Finance Minister.

The loudest thumping of desk by the PM was witnessed when Jaitley spoke about the Pradhan Mantri Ujjwala Scheme, which was followed by his announcement of the National Health Protection scheme to cover 10 crore poor and vulnerable sections.

The 66-year old Finance Minister, who was wearing grey kurta and a black Nehru coat, read out his speech by sitting in his seat after delivering the address standing for 25 minutes. In the last few minutes, Jaitley again rose and completed his speech.

Jaitely's wife Sangeeta and son Rohan were present in the Speaker's gallery to witness his Budget presentation.

He was also greeted by his Cabinet colleagues including Sushma Swaraj, Rajnath Singh and Nitin Gadkari.

However, no opposition leader came to greet him barring suspended BJD leader Baijayanta J Panda who also shook hands with the Prime Minister twice.

Congress President Rahul Gandhi was often seen engaged in small talk with Jyotiraditya Scindia and Kamal Nath in the entire Budget speech.

Gandhi, who came just after the proceedings commenced, left for a brief period but was back before the budget speech ended.

UPA chairperson Sonia Gandhi, Lok Sabha Deputy Speaker M Thambidurai, Congress Leader in the Lok Sabha Mallikarjun Kharge, former Prime Minister HD Deve Gowda, Samajwadi Party leader Mulayam Singh Yadav and other opposition leaders were also present.

Chandrakant Khaire, MP of Shiv Sena which has announced that it would go solo in the 2019 Lok Sabha and State assembly polls, walked up to Jaitley and greeted him.

A number of Rajya Sabha MPs were also seen in the gallery meant for the members of the Upper House.

Among those present were Majeed Memon (NCP), Rajeev Chandrashekar (Independent), Naresh Gujral (SAD), Swapan Dasgupta (Nominated), D Raja (CPI), Vinay Sahrasabuddhe (BJP) and Parimal Nathwani (Independent).

Jaitely was the star attraction of the day. He was in his seat well before the House convened for the day. The Lok Sabha staff provided him with a lapel microphone.

As the Finance Minister kept speaking of the 2022 target for full implementation of several schemes, Kharge interrupted him saying whether Jaitley was reading the Budget speech for 2018-19 or 2022.

Unperturbed

But an unperturbed Jaitley kept reading his speech, ignoring the opposition barbs.

However, when Jaitley was announcing the relief to Medium Small and Micro Enterprises, the opposition raised a hue and crystating that concessions were being given to the corporates. Jaitley hit back asking, "Madam (Speaker), are they objecting to any concession to the MSMES?"

Note ban, an 'Imandari Ka Utsav'

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

New Delhi, February 1

Finance Minister Arun Jaitley today likened the demonetisation drive of 2016 to a celebration of honesty, saying honest taxpayers received the move to tame black money as 'Imandari Ka Utsav'.

There has been a huge increase in the number of returns filed by taxpayers, Jaitley said while presenting the Budget 2018-19 in Parliament today. "We are enthused by this success of our measures and we pledge to continue to take all such measures in future by which the black money is contained and the honest taxpayers are rewarded. Demonetisation was received well by honest taxpayers as 'Imandari ka Utsav' only for this reason," he said in his speech, the last full year budget of government before the general elections next

In 2016-17, there were 85.51 lakh new tax filers as against 66.26 lakh in the preceding fiscal year, he said.

The number of effective tax payer base increased to 8.27 crore at the end of fiscal ended March 2017 from 6.47 crore at the beginning of 2014-15, he said.

The Finance Minister said the economy is getting more formalised post note ban as more and more transactions now happen digitally. "Benefits to the poor have been targeted more effectively with use of digital technology. Demonetisation of high value currency has reduced the quantum of cash currency and circulation in India."

BUDGETS AT A GLANCE

Now in its 25th year, BusinessLine hit the stands a few weeks before the then Finance Minister, Manmohan Singh, presented yet another pathbreaking Budget, for 1994-95. Since then, we have covered Budgets in-depth, combining accuracy with analysis. Here, we present a selection of Page 1 coverage of Budgets — the first Budget covered by BusinessLine; P Chidambaram's 'Dream Budget' for the United Front Government; Yashwant Sinha's 2002-03 Budget, widely dubbed the roll-back Budget; the UPA's first Budget, also presented by P Chidambaram; UPA's last Budget; and, the Narendra Modi Government's first and Arun Jaitley's maiden Budget.

The 1994-95 Budget presented by the then Finance Minister Manmohan Singh, under the Prime Ministership of PV Narasimha Rao, was the first one after BusinessLine was launched, in January 1994 P Chidambaram's second Budget as Finance Minister, for 1997-98, was widely dubbed the Dream Budget, when the United Front Government's Finance Minister cut taxes.

A blow to stock

market investors

For shares and units in equity-oriented mutual funds sold after one year of holding, a long-term capital gains (LTCG) tax will now be chargeable at 10 per cent on gains over ₹1 lakh. To bring parity between those opting for growth and dividend options in equity funds, dividends from equityoriented mutual funds will also be taxed at 10 per cent. These new rules will apply for LTCG made from April 1, 2018.

The gains till the date of announcement of this change will be left out of the tax net. As per the Finance Minister's example, if an equity share is purchased on July 31, 2017 at ₹100 and the highest price quoted on January 31, 2018 for the same is ₹120, there will be no tax on the ₹20 so far gained if this share is sold after one year from the date of purchase (since the announcement has been made only on February 1, 2018). Any gain in excess of ₹20 earned after January 31, 2018 will be taxed at 10 per cent if this share is sold after July 31, 2018. The gains from equity shares/funds held up to one year will remain short-term capital gain and will continue to be taxed at the rate of 15 per cent.

The background

With the market on a purple patch and the Government too looking for additional revenues to balance the fisc, the LTCG tax on equities is not a total surprise.

Equities have enjoyed pride of place among asset classes with capital gains on holdings over one year being considered longterm and enjoying tax-free status. The move to remove this cult status has not come overnight. The Direct Taxes Code, introduced by the UPA government, first mooted this proposal. A revised version of the Code (which lapsed with the dissolution of the UPA government in 2014), suggested an LTCG tax on equities but provided 100 per cent and 50 per cent deduction respectively for long- and short-term gains respectively, effectively making LTCG tax-free

Every cloud has a silver lining. The good news is that this tax is not applicable retrospectively. Second, small investors need not fret so much as only gains over ₹1 lakh will be taxed. Going by the Budget speech, this move is targeted at corporates. According to the Finance Minister, tax-free LTCG on equities has created a bias against manufacturing, leading to more business surpluses being invested in financial assets.

is paid by an investor irrespective of whether you have made profits or not, LTCG tax will be paid only on gains. Also, LTCG tax can help long-term investors set off their losses in one year when the markets are bearish against gains in another year.

ot much has changed - to the big disappointment of salaried taxpayers, especially those below 60 years of age. What the Finance Minister has given with one hand, he has mostly taken with the other. So, while standard deduction of ₹40,000 has been allowed for salary income, the tax exemption on medexpense reimbursement (₹15,000) and transport allowance (₹19,200) has been removed. Ergo, salary earners get a net reduction in taxable income of just ₹5,800 a year.

For a salaried taxpayer who currently also gets medical and transport allowance (generally those employed and aged less than 60), the net tax benefit, excluding cess, will range between ₹290 (for those in the lowest 5 per cent slab) to ₹1,740 (for those in the highest 30 per cent slab). This meagre benefit too will be chipped away by the increase in cess on tax from 3 per cent now to 4

For high salary earners, the outgo due to increase in cess could, in fact, be more than the tax saved. But for salaried taxpayers who do not get medical and transport allowance (generally those aged 60 or more earning pension income), the standard deduction of ₹40,000 could mean some good tax savings -₹2,000 (for those in the 5 per cent slab) to ₹12,000 (for those in the 30 per cent slab) excluding cess. But in this case too, the benefit will be reduced by the increase in cess on tax.

No big tax break, still BUDGET Yet again, hopes of big tax breaks for the salaried class came undone. 2018-19 The Budget has allowed standard deduction of ₹40,000 on salary income but removed tax exemption on medical and transport allowance. Cess on tax has been hiked by 1 percentage point. CURRENT TAX CURRENT TAX CURRENT TAX CURRENT TAX CURRENT TAX CURRENT TAX CURRENT TAX BUDGET 2018 PROPOSAL BUDGET 2018 BUDGET 2018 BUDGET 2018 PROPOSAL BUDGET 2018 BUDGET 2018 BUDGET 2018 BUDGET 2018 ₹8,798 ₹122,990 ₹310,190 ₹3,120 ₹289,120 ₹278,720 ₹214 ₹3,060 CURRENT LIMIT OF BUDGET 2018 80D:

Hopes were running high. Indi- bursement and children's educavidual taxpayers expected a sharp increase in the tax exemption limit (currently ₹2.5 lakh for those under 60, ₹3 lakh for those aged 60 up to 80, and ₹5 lakh for those aged 80 and more). They also hoped for an increase in the Section 80C investment limit (currently ₹1.5 lakh), higher tax breaks on medical reim-tion allowance, and increase in tax deduction on interest payment on home loans (₹2 lakh currently).

After all, the last major tax breaks came during the July 2014 Budget. Inflation has eroded the tax benefits, and with the 2019 general election just about a year away, taxpayers hoped the Government would finally heed their demands. But the Finance Minister has thought otherwise, maybe due to a tight fiscal position. He restricted his largesse to the elderly who have been given higher tax breaks on health insurance and interest incomes. For salary earners below 60, the wait continues.

The verdict Big hopes have been dashed,

Now, pay more for mobiles

Dadar-based undergraduate Durga Panesar has been saving up to buy a brand new smartphone for his birthday coming up next month. He will now have to wait a little longer to save up some more cash with the Finance Minister hiking customs duties on mobile phones to 20 per cent from the earlier 15 per cent.

In the Finance Minister's own words, the hike on certain items was a "calibrated departure" from the long-standing practise of generally slashing duties. While the move would definitely boost 'Make in India' initiatives and create jobs, mobile handsets would be costlier by up to 5 per cent.

The prices of mobile handsets across the spectrum - would definitely rise, and this is going to be a challenge as the industry is looking at increasing penetration of smartphones in the country," Cellular Operators' Association of India (COAI) Director General Rajan S Mathews told BusinessLine.

However, consumers like Durga could still buy a phone assembled in India.

"There will be no impact on semiknocked down kits, but the impact will be on completely knocked down units, which are coming in mainly from China and South Korea. More than 80 per cent of the handsets are brought in from China," Yogesh Bhatia, Managing Director of feature phones manufacturer Detel said.

Silver years set to become easier

K VENKATASUBRAMANIAN

The Finance Minister has done his bit to make the lives of citizens financially less burdensome. What he did not give by way of IT slab or rate concessions has been largely made good through fresh deductions to the tune of nearly ₹1.4-1.5 lakh. Effectively, a senior citizen in the 30 per cent tax bracket would can now save up to ₹45,000 (excluding cess) additionally in 2018-19, if she were to take all these benefits

Higher deductions for interest income, increased limits for medical insurance premiums and treatments, and enhanced provisions for illnesses are set to put more money in the hands of all senior citizens. The investment limit in the Pradhan Mantri Vaya Vandana Yojana has been increased, which would mean higher pension amounts.

Additionally, the TDS threshold on deposits would be increased from ₹10,000 to ₹50,000. The only caveat is that the ₹10,000 that was available for savings bank interest deduction would now not be allowed.

Incentive for medical care

Getting a medical insurance just got more lucrative as the deduction under section 80D has been increased from ₹30,000 to ₹50,000. Also, where premiums are paid for two years together (to get relatively cheaper rates), the amount can be split equally for both the years. For the treatment of certain specified illnesses, the deductions have been increased from ₹60,000 to ₹1 lakh.

Standard deduction introduced Now senior citizens too would be allowed to deduct ₹40,000 from their taxable income. This will be in addi tion to their regular investment allowances and deductions. This move is expected to benefit pensioners who do not have the benefit of deductions on rent payment.

Finance Minister's 'people-friendly' budget. The additional sops announced for senior citizens received much kudos, as did the medical benefits extended to the aged. Announcing a series of benefits for senior citizens, Finance Minister Arun Jaitley raised the exemption limit five times on income from fixed deposit interest, from ₹10,000 to ₹50,000 per year. "This will help us save more for my in-laws, who should enjoy their money in their old age rather than pay taxes," said Singh. Singh's father is a Navy veteran living in Dharamshala with her mother. "The FM should have altered the income-tax slabs for individuals, which would have generated more disposable income. However, the increase in the deduction limit for medical expenditure of certain critical illnesses to₹1 lakh for senior citizens is really commendable," Singh said.

As senior citizens will now be able to claim benefit of deduction up to ₹50,000 per annum on any health insurance premium or any general medical expenditure that has been incurred, Singh was all praise for the government. "It is high time the government realises that there is this class of citizens living in the country who need to be looked after. Other than their children, there has to some other authority to take on some of the responsibility of the aged. Look at what is happening abroad, wherefession though not practising at the moment.

Mother to two small girls, Singh is not too perturbed about the hike in customs duty on perfumes, sunglasses, make-up, and fruit juices. However, she is upset about the hike in customs duty on imported toys.

man. dream, one team can establish an empire of paramount global significance. Single-minded focus and determination are all the ammunition required to give fruition to one's flery ambition of being a trailblazer. K.Chandramohan, Founder & Chairman & Managing Director of NTC Logistics India (P) Ltd., (formerly known as Namakkal Transport Carriers Pvt. Ltd.) or NTC as it is popularly known, stands testimony to this fact.

The multi-billion rupee company has not only set global benchmarks in the logistics industry, but has also heightened the magnitude of universal respect and esteem for the Indian logistics industry as a whole. Enabling the mindboggling rise of this once petite transport company ensconced in a sleepy town in south India are exceptional qualities and values that NTC stands for. Perceptiveness in adopting the best business practices, innovation, astuteness in embracing new and emerging technologies for enhanced productivity and quality of service, forging of effective global collaborationsand an employee-centric approach that infuses a high sense of team spirit are the underlying values NTC abides by in its penchant for wreaking astounding success in the Logistics industry.

NAVIGATING UNCHARTED TERRITORIES

K. Chandramohan's hometown, Namakkal in Tamilnadu. has been a renowned destination for transportation and logistics. Growing up, his passion for creating a niche in the automobile industry impelled him to start Namakkal Transport Carriers at the age of 27. with a single vehicle. Despite its humble genesis, NTC is one of the largest fleet owners in the country today and Chanpreneur in the ecosystem who has built a multi billion logistics empire, providing direct and indirect employment to thousands of employees across the country.

NTC has forged partnerships with global players across 120 countries, delivering customized solutions to a wide array of industries including renewable energy, engineering & manufacturing, earth-moving, oil & gas, automobile, metals & mining, consumer durable, life-sciences & healthcare and FMCG. NTC operates with nearly 30 branches in the country and is rapidly spreading its tentacles across all states. Their pan-India presence enables them to offer seamless services to their customers all over the country. NTC extends beyond transportation and customer requirements to provide endto-end solutions in logistics.

FOUR PILLARS OF SUCCESS

A leader in four verticals including Project Logistics, Renewable Energy, Freight Forwarding and Contract Logistics solutions worldwide, their Project Logistics division specializes in movement of heavy & ODC consignments and renewable equipment offering seamless turnkey solutions right from budgeting, planning to successful project execution .

NTC holds an esteemed spot in the renewable energy space, since it is the world's largest wind and solar energy logistics player. With a strong and well-maintained fleet of 2000+, their ODC fleet division ranks among the best in terms of assets, infrastructure as well as technology. NTC runs its own modern Institute of Driver Training and Research to train and educate drivers.

Their Freight Forwarding division provides top-drawer solutions to customers across the world through partners in over 100+ countries. Contract Logistics is the game changer for future global logistics operations. NTC is striving to

With a presence in Singapore and Malaysia, NTC is in the process of expanding its activities in Australia, South Africa, Sri Lanka, Europe, Hong Kong, Bangladesh and many other countries.

TAKING THE BULL BY ITS HORNS

Chandramohan had to contend with seemingly insurdramohan is the only entre- optimize business operations mountable challenges during the start-up stage. Banks and financial institutions did not extend finance support to transport companies and borrowing had to come from unorganized lenders at heavy interest rates. Statutory limitations posed challenges in their commitment to meet industry requirements. There was a dearth of skilled workforce as well as a talent pool with domain knowledge and experience. Non-availability of trained drivers to handle sophisticated vehicles was another major hurdle, which led to the emergence of their own Institute of Driver Training and Research at Namakkal. NTC's foresight, focussed approach and the ability to adapt to changes have led to the emergence of the company as a leader in the Logistics industry.

THE HUMAN TOUCH

NTC's remarkable accomplishments in the logistics industry have been bolstered by their Corporate Social Responsibility endeavours. All policies of NTC are outlined keeping in view, the benefit of its employees, stakeholders, consumers, communities, environment and the society at large.

NTC is involved in developing rural areas by improving the basic standards of living, providing access to drinking water, sanitation, housing and electricity and funds to construct regional parks. The Palaniammal Kandasamy Charitable (PKC) Trust established in memory of his mother, late Mrs. Palaniammal, offers social and financial support to economically weaker sections, especially the rural youth tohelp develop sector-specific skill.
